Bonner To Give More Direction To Commission

Judge Lord, Counsel Waiting for Orders

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday he will confer with Alfred Bull, QC, early next week on the terms of reference for the royal commission which will investigate charges of impropriety in forest management license dealings.

Judge Arthur E. Lord, named sole commissioner in the inquiry, said Friday in Vancouver he needs further instructions from the government. Mr. Bull is commission counsel.

Judge Lord was appointed after repeated charges by Gordon Gibson (Lib., Lillooet) that money had changed hands in the issuance of forest licenses.

FIRST "NAMED"

Mr Gibson's refusal to withdraw the remarks Wednesday resulted in his being the first MLA in B.C. history to be "named" by the Speaker and banished from the legislature.

But Judge Lord said he can't start the inquiry until "the government tells us how deep it wants to go." He said announcements that the inquiry would start immediately were "a little premature.".

"Whether or not the government wants us to ferret around, seek out evidence and witnesses, and procure specific charges against government officials and ministers of the Crown, we haven't heard," Judge Lord said.

ONLY CHARGE

He added that Mr. Gibson's charge Wednesday was "the only charge we have to go on—we must have more specific evidence than this." Mr. Bull said that he was "ready to go" but had no idea of the "scope of the inquiry."

An order passed the cabinet Thursday directed the commission to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the issuance of forest management license since the enactment of section 32A by chapter 38 of the Statutes of 1947 for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not there is any truth in such allegations and whether or not there was impropriety on the part of any person in connection with the issuance of any forest management license."

The commission can therefore inquire in to the matter right back to the issuing of the first licenses in 1948 under the former Liberal government.

Mr. Bonner said yesterday the terms of reference of the inquiry were stated in the order-in-council but he will discuss it further with Mr. Bull when he is in Victoria next week.

BULLETINS

TOKYO (UP) — Communist China charged today that a Nationalist China shock platoon, personally directed by a "U.S. spy agency," raided Pingyang in Chekiang province last October. Radio Peiping broadcast the charge, allegedly based on the confession of Hsiao Hsi Chen, a captured Nationalist soldier of the raiding platoon.

NEW YORK (UP)—Thirty radar equipped Super-Constellation planes will set up a 24-hour protective warning screen patrol off the Atlantic coast as soon as their crews have completed an extensive training program, the air force said today.

* * *

BOGOTA, Columbia (Reuters)—Fifteen peasants were killed and three wounded by bandits armed with knives and shotguns on a dawn raid at a ranch in the Colombian department of Huila.

QUEBEC (CP)—Two freighters are stranded in ice in the Bai des Chaleurs, a marine official in Quebec reported today. Capt. G. E. Gaudreault, transport department agent, said reports reaching here indicate the freighters were headed for Dalhousie, N.B., to load newsprint when they were frozen in.

Plane Lands On Highway

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP) — Two RCAF men escaped injury Friday when they made a forced landing in a private plane on the Hope-Princeton Highway near Allison Pass, 100 miles east of Vancouver. They were Glenn Cowan, pilot, and Ken Robertson, passenger. On leave from the air force, both are from Alert Bay, B.C. They were en route from Port Hardy, B.C., to St. John, Que., where they are stationed.

Vincent Murder Case Goes to Jury Today

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The fate of Lawrence Vincent, carnival worker charged with the shoelace strangling of schoolgirl Donna Lee Corbett, will be in the hands of an all-male jury here today.

Counsel for the crown, Douglas F. McNeill and defense counsel Raymond Hughes, gave their final addresses Friday and the jury will retire today following the summation of Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris.

Assize Court was jam-packed, with police witnesses even overflowing into press seats, as McNeill called a new witness to rebut defense evidence Friday.

Frank Hickling, grandfather of the crown's key witness Sharon Bournes, told of Sharon and defense witness Donna Eccles, meeting at his house, discussing the case in his house at Quesnel prior to Vincent's second trial at New Westminster.

He stated that the Eccles girl admitted being confused as to which day she last saw Donna Corbett alive, the day of the murder or the day before.

Hickling quoted her as saying "I don't know whether I'm coming or going."

Income Tax Series Starts in Colonist

First of The Daily Colonist's annual series on income tax return problems appears in this issue on Page 13.

Gordon Holms, member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants, has repared this series, as he has for two years past.

Interested readers are invited to clip each article for a complete file of advice, by an expert, for reference before the April 30 deadline for tax returns.

Pigeons Never Miss a Meal

Once a day, every day, a pigeon flock flutters down to the sidewalk outside Beverley Hotel, on Yates near Douglas. And it is never disappointed. Bernard Tomlinson is there to feed the birds, much to the enjoyment of passers-by and some who stand to watch.

Many Lives Lost

Nationalists Blast Red Sub, 21 Ships

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists today claimed their biggest victory since being forced off the mainland—a submarine and 21 ships of a Chinese Red troop-carrying convoy sunk Friday by warships and planes.

Possible loss of more than 1,600 Red soldiers was implied in the claim that eight Communist landing ships went down 15 miles off Chekiang province during nearly 12 hours of steady attack 120 miles northwest of Formosa.

The Red convoy was believed to have been bent on reinforcing a garrison recently slipped into Taishan island some 40 miles south of Nanchishan, the Nationalists' northernmost outpost since evacuation of the Tachens.

Nationalist warships opened the blistering action Friday morning. Nationalist planes joined in and kept at it at least until nightfall.

LONDON (UP)—Communist China admitted Friday the Formosa crisis had reached the "dangerous" state and called for a ten-nation conference as proposed by Russia to ease the tense international situation.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Red China was said Friday night to be building a new network of mainland jet air bases and rushing reinforcements to the Tachen islands in preparation for its next move against the Chinese Nationalists.

Mothers March On Polio Tonight

More than 3,000 mothers will knock at every door where a porch light is burning tonight to ask the people of Greater Victoria to help fight polio.

The second annual Mothers' March on Polio will take place between 6.30 and 7.30 p.m.

Phenomenal success of the drive last year saw donations of $69,000, more than double the quota. While do district goal has been set this year, $300,000 is sought throughout the province.

NEEDED FOR VACCINE

That figure is $75,000 more than in 1954, as a result of the request of the provincial government to the B.C. Polio Fund for assistance in purchasing Salk vaccine.

Of the amount contributed last year, $55,000 was spent in this area. Other funds helped finance the Western Rehabilitation Centre in Vancouver, where six Victoria polio patients are receiving rehabilitation training ranging from household duties to driving a car.

Canvassers tonight will include many members of the Solarium Junior League, which is currently conducting the Shower of Dimes for $30,000 and has raised $9,784 so far.

Pineau Effort Fails

PARIS (UP)—Christian Pineau was defeated in the National Assembly early today in his bid to become France's first Socialist premier in eight years.

The assembly refused to invest Pineau as premier by an unofficial vote of 312 to 268.

CHRISTIAN PINEAU

His defeat sent the deepening French cabinet crisis into its third week. It began February 5 when Pierre Mendes-France fell. Three candidates of three different parties have tried and failed to give France a new government since.

Pineau was the only one of the three to go as far as an assembly vote.

In appealing for assembly support, Pineau had promised to push quick ratification of the German rearmament treaties and to seek talks with the Communists on East-West tension.

Cold Wave Hits

CHICAGO (CP)—A roaring blizzard and cold wave slammed into the Rockies and Great Plains Friday, blocking roads and halting air travel.

Another storm left parts of northeast United States buried under a paralyzing two-foot blanket of wet snow, while the coldest weather of the year stung the far northwest.

Riding in on icy winds with gusts reaching up to 60 miles an hour, the blizzard and cold wave rolled over Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska and the Dakotas and pressed on toward Kansas, Minnesota, Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Towering snow drifts blocked some main roads in the Rockies. Bus line offices in Cheyenne, Wyo., reported all vehicles from the west were held up until highways could be cleared.

MARITIMES HIT

Sections of New Brunswick reported between eight and 16 inches of snow.

Charlottetown reported a light blowing snow that continued most of the day.

EUROPE REELS

Two of the hardest-hit areas were Sweden, which had its worst blizzard in 30 years, and northern Scotland, which had its second straight day of blizzards.

The snow blocked roads and cut communications in Scotland. Urgent appeals from isolated villages went out for medical aid.

Royal Navy helicopters were flying in food and supplies.

'Give Up Fear Now'

Throw Away Atom Bombs Indian Urges

Blast in Desert Starts New Tests

(From CP, AP and UP Reports)

LONDON—The suggestion of an Indian elder statesman yesterday that the West junk all its atomic and hydrogen weapons and leave the next move up to Russia, came in the midst of a chain of events that showed the world was little inclined to listen.

Russia was demanding anew that all nuclear weapons be banned. U.S. authorities were saying again that the Soviet plan offered no safeguards. And in the Nevada desert a fireball blossomed as the first of a new series of atom bomb tests was touched off.

India's Governor-General Chakravarty Rajagopalachari, a confidant of Prime Minister Nehru, said unilateral abandoning of atomic weapons might make the worries of the atomic age seem, in retrospect, "an ugly dream that dissolved when it reached its climax in terror."

"To get rid of fear is different from trying to get rid of a danger," he wrote in a letter to The New Statesman and Nation. "To seek to remove the danger . . . is really to continue in fear. To expect your enemy to agree to give up what has definitely added to his power of generating terror is a vain thought.

"You should give up your fear without waiting for the other man to give up his power.

"The only way to get control over the hellish power of nuclear weapons is not the retaining of the power for purposes of retaliation but by unilaterally giving it up . . ."

Rajagopalachari said it might be better to let the world be destroyed altogether than live in this "hell of continuous fear."

In Moscow, the Soviet Union late last night issued a demand for unconditional prohibition of atomic and hydrogen bombs. This is the same position the Russians have taken since the first postwar arms control efforts in 1946.

The declaration was issued in connection with the meeting of a United Nations sub-committee on disarmament to be held in London later this month.

They said it would give Russia a vast military superiority over the West, and would rule out rearmament of Germany and Japan and any Southeast Asia buildup.

The United States has consistently maintained that no plan for atomic arms control would work unless combined with an airtight inspection plan to prevent violations.

One of the smaller A-bombs in the American arsenal exploded over Yucca Flat near Las Vegas, Nevada, yesterday opening the 1955 test series.

The 32nd shot to be set off at the Atomic Energy Commission's test site was an air drop at noon after bad weather had caused a 4½-hour delay.

It was an impressive piece of precision bombing as a B-36 bomber dropped the weapon through the only visible patch of blue sky.

The shot itself, however, was not an impressive sight. Only a brief flash was visible to observers 30 miles away.

Chamber Considers Plan For Massive Credit Union

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce is investigating the value of the formation of a credit union with services available to personnel of all member firms.

There are 540 member firms in the chamber and about 700 individual members.

If the chamber decides to form a credit union it is possible it would become British Columbia's largest.

Largest in British Columbia now are the Vancouver Federal Employees' Credit Union with about 3,800 members, and the Powell River Credit Union, which was the first organized in B.C.

NOT COMPULSORY

Not all employees of member firms would be required to become members of the credit union. It is considered a good average if 40 per cent join.

Some of the chamber's 540 member firms already have credit unions within their organizations.

A sub-committee of the chamber's membership committee, under chairanship of Reginald Wilde, is investigating the credit union project and is expected to make a full report shortly.

Organization would probably be similar to the chamber's group health plan, which offers medical, life, accident and unemployment benefits, and MSA coverage to 350 employees of chamber member firms.

BEST AVAILABLE

The health plan is considered the best group plan offered anywhere in Canada and the Victoria chamber was the first to offer such full coverage.

It was started in July, 1954, with 52 members, and is steadily increasing. A drive for new member firms is planned next June when those wishing to get into the plan will be able to do so without undergoing medical examination.

Canadian Chamber of Commerce President G. S. Thorvaldson told The Daily Colonist this week that in his opinion credit unions have no place in chambers of commerce.

Chartered banks are doing the job quite ably, he said.

Margaret Relaxes On Yacht

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) Princess Margaret sunbathed on the Royal yacht Britannia as she sailed toward Jamaica to continue her Caribbean tour, said a raido-telephone report from the vessel Friday.

The Britannia will sail into Port Royal, across the harbor from Kingston, today and the princess will step ashore at 11 a.m. She will spend five days in Jamaica before sailing to the Bahamas for the last stop on her month-long tour.

Dog Bites Small Boy

A three-year-ld boy, Michael Murphy, 1863 Oak Bay Avenue, was badly bitten on the face by a dog near his home about 6 p.m. yesterday.

He required three stitches to close a lip injury. The boy was also bitten on the right cheek near his eye.

Twice Escapes Police Ambushes

Slippery Gunman Evades Harlem Blockade

NEW YORK (UP) — A pint-sized fugitive believed to be a hired killer broke out of police traps twice Friday and slipped wraithlike through a blockade of 100 policemen armed with machine guns and tear gas.

In one of his escapes, the little man held three husky detectives at gunpoint and stripped them of their weapons. Less than an hour later, he shot it out with four other police marksmen before disappearing in a maze of apartment buildings.

The suspect, identified as Augusto Robles, 41, was believed to be the killer who, with a macabre touch, shot to death an underworld associate earlier this week and left the body in front of a Brooklyn coffin factory.

Police Friday traced Robles to the Harlem apartment of Carmen Gusman, his girl friend. The time was 4 a.m. Detectives hoped to surprise Robles.

As Miss Guzman cautiously opened the door and peeped out, the officers kicked it in and rushed into the room.

Their plan apparently had succeeded. Robles was captured and searched for weapons. As the detectives escorted him to the door, Miss Guzman handed him his hat.

Suddenly Robles produced a gun—police believe it was in the hat—and slipped behind one of the detectives. "Make a move and I'll kill you," he said. The other detectives threw down their guns and Robles fled.

The second chance to capture Robles came minutes later. Detectives found their slippery target in the apartment of his niece, less than a mile away.

This time they were more cautious. Two detectives were guarded from a nearby stairway exit by two other officers.

Suddenly the stair door opened.

There was Robles with a revolver.

The detectives fell to the floor and opened fire. Robles fired two shots and fled. Nobody was hit.

In response to the detectives' call for aid, more than 100 officers roared to the scene and in minutes the huge housing project in the centre of Harlem was ringed. Searchlights played on the red brick buildings in the early light of dawn.

But the elusive Robles apparently had fled safely for the third time.

A milkman later told police he saw the suspect and another man fleeing along a pathway leading to a maze of tenements that ring the housing project.

The man Robles was believed to have killed Joseph Aronowitz, who died only a day before he was scheduled to go into a Baltimore courtroom and "tell all" about a bungled stick-up involving a former magistrate.

Dollar Sale Proves Flop

He had offered the coins at a "rock bottom" price—75 cents each—as an advertising gimmick.

Not more than a dozen customers took advantage of the bargain, Joiner explained. He said they told him they "just didn't have the money to buy them."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THERE are a lot of things Bill Kersey doesn't like about Australia and New Zealand.

Back in Victoria after breaking a planned world trip half-way through, the retired business man and former Saanich councillor let fall a few acid words about the Antipodes.

Altogether, he and Mrs. Kersey enjoyed their time in Australia and New Zealand. The people are warm and hospitable. Both countries are beautiful and potentially rich.

But—says Bill Kersey—there are enough irritations to send a sensitive foreigner away mad. Luckily, he isn't sensitive, he claims.

His chief complaints (and this is Mr. Kersey talking, not me) are as follows: People "down under" don't like work; they are too fond of beer and gambling; the New Zealand government travel bureau is inefficient; drinking regulations are absurd; the bread is no good; hotels and plumbing are far below North American standards.

Bill says he hates to knock, but those are his sentiments.

For example, he cites the affair of the dirty bath.

The Kerseys stayed in one of Sydney's best hotels (only third-rate in Canada, says Bill). They paid 92 shillings a night, or just over $10, for bed and breakfast, with no attached bathroom.

A woman friend of theirs stayed at another hotel of the same quality. She went to have a bath, but was disgusted to find the tub stained deep yellow with grime. She called the maid.

"It's an old bath, all stained; we can't do anything about it," the maid said.

So the lady bought some Dutch cleanser and polished a gleaming white Plimsoll line all around that tub. Then she called the manager.

"I'm very sorry, madam, but if I say anything the staff will walk out on me," the manager said.

There is a severe labor shortage. Newspapers are full of "help wanted" ads. The average Australian wage is £11 a week—only $24.20 in Canadian dollars by the exchange rate, but about twice that in terms of what an hour's work will buy.

In general, the cost of living in Australia and New Zealand seems rather higher than it is in Canada.

* * *

Mr. Kersey was shocked to find that in one of the best Sydney hotels, the same dirty tablecloth was used day after day. He was also disturbed to see meat being wrapped in newspaper.

During his brief stay in New Zealand, the government travel bureau crossed up his route and hotel reservations. He found himself going over ground that he had already covered. Several times he found that people at the hotels had received no reservation, and in fact had never heard of him. He had to scratch around for another place to stay.

The New Zealand government travel bureau refunded £50 of his money for these deficiencies—money that the bureau could have kept had it done a proper job.

* * *

Low-pressure, spiritless — but amiable — that's what Bill Kersey thinks of the average Aussie and New Zealand worker. In Australia there are "three fetishes—beer, racing and the lottery."

After work, New Zealander and Australian men rush to grab all the beer they can before 6 o'clock closing. That means, quite often, standing-room only in the pubs, and beer passed back overhead to those who can't reach the bar.

Bill asked a jovial-looking Australian how much he spent on beer. "Ten bob a day and 30 shillings on Saturday," the man said.

* * *

New Zealand sheep farmers and dairymen make more money than they know what to do with. Bill was impressed by the rich New Zealand countryside.

"There were lovely pasture fields . . . as far as you could see over the golden hills, there were cattle up to their hocks in green fodder . . ."

Australia may have a great future—but since many of its own people are so apathetic, the country will probably be developed by immigrants, Bill Kersey thinks.

The Kerseys were planning to go on to the Orient, but grew tired of waiting for uncertain steamer reservations, and came home. They plan to go in the other direction next time—east to Europe.

* * *

Bill Kersey's criticisms, oddly enough, made me want to visit Australia and New Zealand. Maybe I will, some day. I respect Bill's view's—they are based on sound observation—but I attach less importance to plumbing and tablecloths than he does. Are the people happy? That's what I want to know.

Australia and New Zealand sound like countries with a character.

Four Young Generations

Four generations—one of them very small—are represented here. Great-grandmother Mrs. W. B. Armstrong, left, at 84, probably holds some sort of record as one of the youngest with that title in B.C. or farther afield. Grandmother is Mrs. W. B. Warren, 35. Mother is Mrs. E. B. Lapoint, 18, and the baby, Bernice, is 18 days old. Picture was taken at Mrs. Warren's home, 909 Nicholson.

Bund Job Awaits Strasser

ZURICH, Switzerland (CP)—A ready-made political job in West Germany awaits Dr. Otto Strasser, former Nazi leader exiled by Hitler in 1933, who returned to Europe from Canada Friday.

Weidemar Wadsack, a deputy leader of the Bund Fuer Deutschlands Erneuerung (League for New Germany) and a friend of Strasser for 25 years, said Strasser will become the leader of the bund when he arrives in Germany.

Strasser, who was met by his wife, Gertrud, 49, and his two children, Hannelore, 23, and Gregor, 20, on his arrival here by air, told reporters he will spend a two-week holiday with his wife on the shore of Lake Zurich.

He will remain in Switzerland 12 years in Paradise, N.S., from four weeks before going to where he has campaigned for Munich to take up a political the right to return to Germany, career interrupted 22 years ago Last November his German when he quarreled with Hitler citizenship, taken from him and had to flee Germany. when he broke with Hitler was Strasser has lived for the last restored.

Chamber Favors United Appeal

The Chamber of Commerce will act as arbiters in a new move to establish a united appeal for Greater Victoria charities.

Officials of the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Conquer Cancer Campaign, Community Chest, and Anti-Polio Drive will be invited to sit with chamber members in a round-table discussion to explore the feasibility of a united appeal.

Two campaigns a year are envisioned for Greater Victoria—one in the fall to encompass charitable and welfare organizations, and one in the spring for health groups.

SEEK BIGGER PLEDGES

First step toward a united appeal should be to obtain the endorsement of a sufficient number of the larger contributors, who would pledge themselves if possible to increase the total of their contributions to a united appeal over what they would normally give to multiple drives, R. H. B. Ker and Courtney Haddock said in a committee report.

The saving of expense and effort entailed in the many campaigns involved should appeal to the participants of a united appeal, they told Chamber of Commerce directors at a meeting yesterday.

Air for Bagpipes Honors General

The Canadian Guards Regiment has paid its respects to Highland associations of Victoria's Maj.-Gen. J. M. Rockingham.

The Guards' 2nd Battalion has presented him with a pipe composition entitled "General Rockingham Inspects the 2nd Canadian Guards."

It was written and published by the battalion's pipe major, Archie M. Cairns, of Hamilton, who has been blowing the pipes since he was old enough to carry them.

Inspired by a recent inspection by Gen. Rockingham, it was played and then presented to him at a battalion mess dinner.

Since the days of 1935 when he was a subaltern in the Canadian Scottish Regiment of Victoria, General Rockingham, now commanding the 1st Canadian Infantry Division, has retained his Scottish associations.

Garden Notes

Indoor Work Has Hazards

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Away back in the hungry 30s, when we were living in Regina, I tried to start some seed indoors, in tin cans filled with garden soil placed in a sunny living-room window.

In my ignorance, I didn't know that the grasshopper infestation of the summer before had left the soil full of eggs. When the soil warmed up from the heat of the room, the eggs hatched out and pretty soon we found ourselves with a houseful of small but very hungry grasshoppers.

They cleaned out all the seedlings and house plants in nothing flat, then they started on the expensive living room drapes, leaving them looking more like lace curtains. They even ate holes in a silk stocking. They got into our clothes, and into our hair, and we couldn't even eat a piece of bread without shaking it carefully first.

CAN'T COUNT

Ever since we went through this nightmare, all my gardening operations have been banned from the upstairs rooms. As there are never enough sunny window ledges available for bringing along young seedlings, I have begged and pleaded, and argued that such an infestation only takes place every 20 years, but my wife insists that a grasshopper can't count up to 20, so the ban remains in force.

With only the basement windows to accommodate all my indoor seed starting, it has been necessary to devise all kinds of space-saving stunts. One of these is the use of egg shells as seed starters.

I have persuaded my wife, in her baking operations, to break the eggs at one end, so that about three-quarters of the shell is left intact. The empty shell is rinsed out to remove any remaining egg which might go bad and smell up the house, the shells are filled with sandy soil and placed in an egg carton, which holds them nicely upright, and the seeds are sown, one to each shell. In this way, I can raise 12 plants in a very small space.

When the plants are set out in the open ground, they are placed in the soil shell and all, and grow away without any transplanting at all. I have never found out just what happens to the shell—I think the roots must eat it, for there is never any trace of egg shell found during the fall digging operations.

One of the seeds which will be sown in egg shells along about the end of the month is the Fargo Yellow Pear tomato. In our family, we always like to have half-a-dozen plants of this variety, as it bears a heavy crop of bright yellow tomatoes, about the size of plums, but shaped like a pear. In season, we keep bowls of these attractive little fruits around for the children to eat out of hand.

Liberals Showdown Victors

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons defeated a Progressive Conservative motion of non-confidence in the government by a vote of 111 to 62 Friday. The motion reflected opposition criticism to the government's immigration policy.

With one exception—W. D. Wylie, SC, Medicine Hat—the opposition voted solidly against the Liberal majority. A Quebec independent, Fernand Girard, Lapointe, voted with the opposition.

The opposition's three-point motion moved by Davie Fulton (PC, Kamloops) last Tuesday said:

The government's immigration policy is not clear, consistent or co-ordinated;

The policy is not in conformity with the needs or the responsibilities of Canada;

Administration of the policy denies simple justice to Canadians and non-Canadians.

WINCH SPEAKS

Also speaking on immigration Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East) said Friday a young Chinese who will graduate from the University of British Columbia this spring has been refused permission to remain in Canada with his parents.

Speaking in a Commons immigration debate, Mr. Winch said the student was born in Hong Kong and therefore is a British subject. So were his wife and two children. Mr. Winch did not identify the student but said his father, mother, brother and uncle now live in Vancouver.

Bizarre Documents

Lady of Cammo Plot Thickens

LONDON (CP)—Two bizarre documents provide the key to the strange story of Mrs. Margaret Maitland-Tennent, the dark lady of Cammo house who died last month leaving a fortune in Canadian banks, including one in Victoria.

They are confessions written by her husband, Davie Benner Clark, on black-edged notepaper in 1891.

Clark, an Edinburgh bank clerk who earned £150 a year, signed the first confession after four years, marriage to the woman who inherited a fortune from her sheep-farmer father. It read in part:

"I acknowledge and confess that I was extremely immoral before my marriage and since then up to 10 days ago . . .

Clark said later he wrote the paper, at his wife's dictation, "to end constant nagging."

A few months later, a second confession was issued, in which he admitted planning to have his wife confined to a mental home.

Clark continued to live with his wife in Cammo house, her mansion on the outskirts of Edinburgh. But in 1903, following an argument over money—he paid 13 shillings a day for board and lodging in the house—Clark was locked out.

Mrs. Maitland-Tennent soon reverted to her maiden name and strange stories began circulating about the three-story, 50-room house.

In 1907, Mrs. Maitland-Tennent sued for divorce on the grounds of her husband's adultery, but lost the case. Clark filed his own suit two years later, charging his wife with desertion, and won.

Group Still Fighting To Protect Animals

Legislation to prohibit the unnecessary, rough handling of animals to provide amusement will be sought by the Canadian Council for Animals' Welfare, formerly the Anti-Rodeo Association of Greater Victoria.

The group, an independent organization not connected with any other animal welfare society, has announced three other aims:

Combat cruelty to animals by means of education and propaganda; use every legal means to abolish the practice of keeping animals confined in small cages for advertising purposes; and expose all hidden forms of cruelty to animals.

Council officers are Mrs. Judith Zach, president; Mrs. Nancy Smith, vice-president; Miss Nelle Wyles, treasurer, and Captain James Barr, secretary.

Report Due On Parking

A report on parking in the downtown Victoria area will be presented at the next Chamber of Commerce directors' meeting by the traffic committee of the civic affairs group.

Parking is the first of three major traffic classifications to be studied by the committee. It is planned eventually to combine findings into one conclusive report.

Challenge Accepted

IN appointing a Royal commission to investigate the manner in which forest management licenses are granted in this province the B.C. government has chosen a course which the public is likely to endorse as the proper one in all the circumstances. The matter has been a political issue between the Liberals and the Social Credit government for several months. Mr. Gibson has tried by a variety of tactics to goad the government into submitting it to the forest committee of the House for investigation. There will now be an investigation, though not quite the kind Mr. Gibson sought.

By appointing Judge Lord of the Vancouver county court bench to make it, the government has taken the issue out of politics entirely. A judicial inquiry, with powers to subpoena witnesses and subject to court rules of procedure as to the admissibility of statements, is a serious business. Whatever may emerge, no one will be able to assert afterwards that the government used or tried to use its majority in the House to influence the verdict. To this extent Premier Bennett wins the first round in what up to Thursday had been anything but an edifying sparring match on the floor of the House.

The government also has taken the matter farther than the Liberals may have intended by instructing the commissioner, in investigating allegations of impropriety in the issuance of licenses, to examine every license granted right back to 1947, several years before the Social Credit government took office. The significance of that is not likely to escape those who have been following the course of events since Mr. Gibson made his first allegation that "money talks" in the choice between applicants for forest management licenses.

Mr. Gibson's conduct in the House, the government's tardy objection to it, and Mr. Speaker's unprecedented "naming" of an offender against the ruling of the chair have been made relatively unimportant by the development these incidents have precipitated. The sequel will not be written until the Royal commission gives its decision. For the present the allegations rather than the manner in which they were made and received are of paramount importance.

Mr. Gibson started all this, as a member has a duty to do if he earnestly believes there has been impropriety in administration. He now has the fullest opportunity to prove his case, if he can, by producing witnesses to substantiate what hitherto have been vague accusations. This is the chance he sought, and the government has given it to him. Whatever the outcome may be, there is assurance that through the medium of impartial inquiry the murky air will be cleared.

Mr. Dulles Makes His Points

MR. DULLES, United States Secretary of State, made two plain points in his broadcast speech to the Foreign Relations Society in New York this week in what obviously was intended as an open-end reference to the Formosa dispute. The first was that the United States would regard any threat by Red China to Formosa or the Pescadores, even though indirectly through the fringe islands off the coast, as provocative. The second point was a polite but firm objection to the British view that the coastal islets apart from Formosa and the Pescadores might possibly be ceded by the Nationalist Chinese in the interests of a cessation of hostilities and restoration of peace.

Mr. Dulles left no reasonable doubt that it was these two points he intended to bring out. That he did so with the knowledge and assent of the United States cabinet is beyond doubt, and his remarks are in substance the official American stand on the issue.

At the same time the U.S. Secretary of State did not close the door to continuing negotiation. His address was free from ultimatum or restricted channels of discussion. In a diplomatic sense it was a conditioned response to both the Formosa dispute and the world's reaction to it. Mr. Dulles has shown where the United States stands in the matter, and probably the ground from which in subsequent negotiations it will not likely recede.

There was no hint of appeasement in the utterance. The warning on Formosa given to Red China by Mr. Dulles was blunt and emphasized. In effect it indicated that if the Communists persist in steaming up the dispute under "liberation" or other slogans they will arrive at a point where they can expect no yielding and no concessions. That marks the resistance line of the United States respecting the dispute.

In between the lines Mr. Dulles left room for negotiation of a cease-fire and limitation of the present conflict. One result will be a sharpening awareness of the difficulties of the problem, without any recession or softening of the American attitude.

He-Men in Distress

ONE is sad at heart over the fate of the Penticton Vs, the team Canada sent over to West Germany for the world hockey championship. They are having such a rough time. En route over the Atlantic they had to live for a day on cold meals. When they arrived there was no hot bath awaiting. Their equipment went astray. Visa arrangements were found wanting.

But that is not all. European hotels, alas, are not like those to which they have been accustomed. The food is low in calories; for example the steaks are only half-size. Soap too is scarce, and the toilet tissue is not of the best refined quality. Living conditions generally are third-rate. All in all the hardships are terrible and the Penticton Vs are about ready to quit.

Perhaps these plush-covered he-men from a land of plenty should come home. A few days ago this newspaper expressed its best wishes for the success of the Okanagan team in its quest for international hockey triumphs. One almost feels impelled to suggest now that it should withdraw before the tournament starts. Such puerile complaints imply that as sporting ambassadors for Canada they have much to learn.

Quite likely there were some minor vicissitudes to be borne; all travelers experience them but normally take them in stride. It ill becomes Canadian representatives, however to scorn the amenities of a country they visit because it is not of their own luxurious standards. War-ravaged Europe does not live on the scale of Canada. Even an athlete whose skill is mainly in his feet should understand that.

In any case the Penticton Vs should have the grace to keep their woes to themselves and the hardihood to overcome them with a smile. They are privileged to carry the colors of Canada in a foreign land, an honor that far outweighs a few petty discomforts. All too unfortunately it seems that though of adult age and physical stature they are spoiled children at heart.

Interpreting the News

Reversing Destiny

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

ESTIMATES made several years ago that Britain might soon be reduced to a more insular economy, comparable to that of Switzerland and incapable of supporting an increasing population, now may need revision.

At least the prospect is by no means so immediate as in the first postwar years.

* * *

Britain's economic position has been out of all proportion to her natural resources. Because she pioneered the industrial revolution, she grew rich and powerful by the processing of raw materials produced by others. She had two major assets, skill and coal.

It was inevitable that others would develop the skill, and many have, while all are doing so. That is a British edge which is rapidly disappearing. The day is foreseeable when all countries will process their own raw materials.

* * *

Coal production from Britain's thin seams, some of which cannot be mechanized, becomes increasingly difficult and therefore increasingly uneconomic.

Nevertheless, the nation has staged a remarkable recovery, although she has been importing coal and exporting only about a third as much as before the war. She's having a boom.

World trends have been working against any long term resumption of her old position.

* * *

However, just as she emerged from her insular position through the industrial revolution 200 years ago, Britain now is driving toward a new start through development of atomic energy. She intends to build 12 atomic power plants in the next 10 years. She thinks she is ahead of every other country in development of peaceful uses for atomic energy.

At the same time the uranium used in the power reactors will produce plutonium. Plutonium can be used as the trigger for the H-bomb, and Britain has announced she will go in for production of them, too, as a deterrent to war.

The ability of Britons to fight back from the brink of disaster after disaster is an amazing phenomenon. It would be a proud thing if skill could once again reverse destiny, even if only for a time.

TEMPESTUOUS JOURNEY

World Copyright by arrangement with the Manchester Guardian

The Cordwood Limited

By FRANK KELLEY

ALL of 65 years ago villagers of Sidney and agriculturally-minded folk of North Saanich wanted better communication with Victoria than the road of sorts then existing provided for their horses and buggies. There were settlements at Bazan Bay and Shoal Harbor, an operating sawmill at Sidney, also a general store and hotel; but all wanted better facilities than the wagon-road furnished; for in Victoria was a market for the products of the district. So, according to the story, they began to demand a railway to the capital city.

* * *

It was in the 1880s following the completion of the mill that members of the Legislature were asked to provide rail connection. The request was not granted then. Some time later pioneer Julius Brethour applied again and was granted a charter in 1890 to build and operate a line of railway across Saanich Peninsula. Brethour's line was known as the Victoria, Saanich & New Westminster Railway. The promoters envisaged traffic possibilities between Island and Mainland for sizeable boats that would, in addition to handling freights, also make it possible to introduce paying customers to the delightful scenic attractions of the Gulf Islands.

Brethour's Railway was built by T. W. Paterson, who later served as lieutenant-governor of British Columbia. The road was completed in 1894 and subsequently known as the "V & S" as well as "The Cordwood Limited," being fired with cordwood stacked along the right-of-way.

* * *

By the time it was in operation a townsite had been laid out at the Sidney end of the line. Its Victoria terminus was originally located on Topaz Avenue and was later moved into town, where the products of the farming district were made available to patrons of Victoria's public market.

In operation for some 25 years, towards the end of its existence it was operated by the Great Northern Railway. James Hill, at one time obsessed with possibilities of Oriental traffic for his great liners and piqued over Canadian Pacific competition in that direction, obtained control of it when Canadian Northern and Canadian Pacific engineers were locating railroad grades to a certain point on the Island's west coast, which would have cut trans-Pacific steaming time by several days. The First World war spoiled all those plans, however; and the airplane since has done things to steamship operators that are not at all funny.

During the latter years of the "V & S" a car ferry transported cars and passengers between Sidney and New Westminster. Had the Canadian railways carried out intentions and built to the outer Island port Jim Hill would have had a connecting link from Victoria, through Sidney, to Everett for the preferred traffic of his "State" ships which would have called at the west coast port where passengers, mails and express, like silk, would have been transferred.

It was not to be that way, however. Victoria and Sidney have benefited in recent years through CPR and Washington State Ferries and both communities very much desire the services to continue, a wish which would be a sure thing, no doubt, if overall operating costs at least equal overall receipts. From what I have been told, CPR boats sometimes leave Victoria with as few as 10 paid passengers aboard. It could hardly have happened 30 years ago. But such is progress.

On the Record

What Is Aggression?

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

THE United Nations has never found a satisfactory definition of "aggression." Its concept is that the nation that first fires or moves troops across a given line is the aggressor. The manner of dealing with an aggressor has been envisaged as demanding that he cease and, if he refuses, to make him the target of united "military action."

Whatever may be the merit of this concept vanishes the moment the world becomes divided into political and militarily blocs. When the great powers aligned against each other in a cold war, the "United" Nations ceased to exist. Instead of a standing peace conference, it became a political battle arena.

No member or group within it stands as an impartial tribunal with the power to enforce a decision. The neutrals, especially India, might try to exercise such a function, but their determination not to be involved in armed conflicts rules out any enforcement role.

The present concept of "aggressor" fails in almost any case.

United Nation members vote according to the side they are on. But the question of who fired first does not cover, in any case, the realities of a war crisis.

* * *

War encompasses other measures than shooting. An ultimatum delivered by one power to another has always been interpreted as a declaration of intention to fight, if it is not accepted. The organization of armed guerrillas or "undergrounds" on foreign territory is a war measure. So is economic blockade.

The simple definition of aggression is practically impossible to apply in a civil war. Partisanship always influences judgment. In Spain world Communism defended the "loyalists," as the "legitimate" government assailed by Fascist "rebels."

In China it defended the Communist rebels on the ground that the loyalists no longer represented the people.

Civil wars cease to be conflicts of internal interests when either or both parties are backed by an external power. In China the Soviets armed the Communists from abandoned Japanese arsenals, while the Americans supported Chiang Kai-shek, initially as the leader of the war against Japan. But we went on supporting him after the war against Japan had been won and the Chinese civil war lost.

The Chinese National Army, protected by an American fleet, has been perpetually bombarding Communist-held islands and mainland. Such bombardments are shooting war. They constitute an argument convincing far beyond the Communist bloc that America, in supporting them, is aggressively intervening in an internal Chinese matter.

* * *

As long as the United Nations fails to find a better definition of aggression it cannot be even a strong moral instrument for peace.

I suggest that there is one: an aggressor is the party who in a situation of actual or immediately threatening war refuses a cease-fire, and refuses to negotiate. The onus of aggression, it seems to me, should be put not in the party who starts the shooting (which is often hard to determine), but upon the party who refuses to stop the shooting and to negotiate. For this can be unequivocally determined.

In opposing a cease-fire both Chiang and Chou are wrong.

In sitting on the fence on this issue the United States is wrong.

In sending an ultimatum to the United States Chou was making a declaration of war, and in asserting he would only negotiate on the basis of the Russian resolution he was demanding unconditional surrender and closing every possibility of negotiation.

But, from the viewpoint of keeping the peace in the Formosa area, the American position is also untenable.

Defending the island of Formosa as a link in a Pacific chain involving Japan, the Philippines, Okinawa, etc., during a period of intense strain, is not the same as defending Chiang Kai-shek, who is, in fact, at war with the Chinese People's Republic.

Without better clarification of our definitions and purposes we risk a war in which we will be isolated not only militarily but morally.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

A FRIEND of mine who has for several years past enjoyed the pleasure of entertaining quite a wide variety of wild birds at the feeding stations in his suburban garden has been puzzled all winter by the absence of visitors this year. Formerly he had cardinals, blue jays, two species of woodpecker, chickadees, nuthatches, four kinds of native sparrows besides the English sparrows and starlings. But what few birds he has seen this year, a few hasty chickadees and an anxious brief woodpecker or two, have appeared wild and furtive in their behavior.

A week ago, at dusk, my friend saw an owl fly out of one of the Norway spruces at the bottom of his garden. Knowing my friend for a very determined man, I am afraid that owl is a gone goose.

But the chances that the owl has eaten or even attacked the former visitor are very slim. Beyond the foot of my friend's garden is a large suburban vacant field full of weeds and grass, in which doubtless large numbers of mice and even rats are in residence. It is practically certain the owl is more interested in the field than in my friend's bird-gathering feeding station. There has been no identification of the owl, but it sounds from the description like a long-eared owl, which is known to eat little else than nice small rodents.

Just how few birds owls do attack is attested by recent figures published in the Auk, the official quarterly of the American Ornithologists' Union.

A study of barn owl pellets shows 489 rats, mice, moles, rats and squirrels eaten, as compared to 21 birds, 14 of which were sparrows. A study of horned owls, which are big enough to take rabbits, shows four birds—a quail, a flicker and two sparrows—against 10 rabbits, 18 rats, two mice and a squirrel.

The doomed owl around my friend's house is doomed because he may merely have scared the other birds away. There is no way of telling small birds that owls eat mostly mice. Like bird-loving man, small birds have their natural suspicions.

Under the Dome

By RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

THE third session of British Columbia's 24th Legislative Assembly is about half way through. It has not produced as much in the way of major policy change as the previous session, but it has made history in at least one way.

Last Wednesday a member of the legislature was "named" by the Speaker for refusing to withdraw remarks made the previous day.

This has never happened before in the history of the B.C. legislature.

At the time this is written the outcome of the case has not been decided but it might be of interest to note events surrounding the unprecedented incident as it stood last Thursday.

* * *

A very strong critic of the forest management license system, Gordon Gibson (Liberal-Lillooet) has spent part of every session for the past two years blasting it. He believes that concentration of large blocks of British Columbia timber in the hands of big companies deprives the small operator of both his livelihood and his incentive to make his own way.

Mr. Gibson is not noted for polish in the legislature. A man who has come up the hard way by working an 18-hour day in the bush, he is not given to gentle rhetoric or glib language to make his point. He is blunt, very blunt, and says what he believes. For this reason he has run into the written and unwritten restrictions which govern the conduct of debate in the legislature. He has already had to apologize for using profanity in the House and when he is angry he is an awesome opponent.

Monday and Tuesday Mr. Gibson intimated with as much subtlety as a logging locomotive that the government was guilty of unsavory practices in the issuing of forest management licenses. Monday he said "Somebody is paying something to somebody" and Tuesday he said "money talks" when it comes to choosing between a number of applicants for licenses.

* * *

Wednesday at 2 p.m. Attorney-General Bonner got up and read accounts of Mr. Gibson's remarks in two morning papers. He asked that if the accounts be true Mr. Gibson "withdraw his remarks unreservedly" because there were "imputations of false and unavowed motives respecting the conduct of this government."

Mr. Gibson refused to withdraw the remarks after Mr. Speaker Irwin had instructed him to do so. He also refused to repudiate the reports as being incorrect accounts of what he said Tuesday. (Several papers had almost exactly the same quotes so it is unlikely he was misquoted, in any case.)

After a good deal of confusion, during which Mr. Speaker gave him three chances to withdraw the remarks (or deny them) Mr. Gibson was "named," the traditional method of reprimanding a member for misconduct. Ordinarily members are addressed as "the honorable member for . . ." and the ministers as "the honorable the minister of . . ."

"Then, J. Gordon Gibson, I name you," said the Speaker, "and must ask you to withdraw from the House until the members decide what to do."

The attorney-general then moved that the rules be suspended to give Mr. Gibson an opportunity to consider his decision.

* * *

Some observers say that according to Section 19 of the Standing Orders the Speaker should not have ordered him to withdraw, but merely named him. The next move is supposed to come from a member of the House who moves that "The member be suspended from the service of the House." An order of withdrawal at the same time as the naming is supposed to come only under Seection 20, for "gross disorderly conduct."

Mr. Gibson could have returned immediately Mr. Bonner's motion was passed but he chose to remain outside.

The burly logger who made a fortune in B.C.'s forests was adamant. He said he would not retract what he had said, nor would he return unless he was invited. Wednesday evening clerk of the House E. K. de Beck sent him a note explaining that he was entitled to take his seat again until the matter was settled. On Thursday afternoon Mr. Gibson was again in his seat.

* * *

In Mr. Gibson's mind the issue is not one of procedure but one of principle. He feels that he has been punished for criticizing the government, or accusing it of misdealing. The delicate and finely balanced processes of legal procedure are not of much concern to him. He is being slapped down for speaking his mind. To his colleagues he is a martyr, a champion of free speech. The government feels he has made an irresponsible and serious charge. To the Speaker he has defied the authority of the House.

It is quite true that Mr. Gibson did defy the Speaker. Whether the Speaker was right in accepting Mr. Bonner's point of order based on newspaper accounts of what the member had said is another question.

So the issue stands for the present, pending the findings of the royal commission appointed by the government Thursday to investigate Mr. Gibson's allegations.

Fight Polio

May I at this time, when the Kinsmen's Polio Drive is eminent, express my gratitude for all that they have done for me.

I should also like to appeal to the public to give generously to the polio fund, so that they are enabled to carry on the wonderful work they are doing: (1) by rehabilitation of the victims; (2) by continuing to make equipment available for those who may need it in the future; (3) by obtaining sufficient funds to assist in further research towards the fight of polio.

Bobby Helmets

It is with amazement that I continue to pick up my local paper and find that the controversy concerning the bobby helmets continues after so many weeks, but our Mr. J. H. Gray seems determined to keep his pet theme alive.

I think if this matter was as serious as he tries to make out our brave police and firemen would be the first to request them, and their commissioners would see that they were granted.

Death Rattle

The death rattle in the throat of the Conservative party in western Canada can now be heard quite plainly. The fate that overcame the once famous Liberal party in Britain now faces the Tories in that portion of Canada west of the Great Lakes.

In the four western provinces there are 70 federal seats in the House of Commons. Only nine of these are now held by Conservatives. In the same provinces there are 219 provincial seats of which only 15 are held by Conservatives.

French-speaking Quebec and Protestant English-speaking Ontario is the only bulwark of the Conservative party remaining in Canada. Differences in economic theory usually lie at the roots of political parties which are in opposition but the economic beliefs of the Liberal and Conservative are practically identical.

The sham battle which was conducted for so long between the two old-line parties aided by their press has come to an end. The question which faces the former supporters of the Tories is "Where do we go from here?"

The fundamental division which faces the industrial societies of the western world is the question of maintaining our present private ownership and operation of the means of life or whether we should hand over our entire economy to the state who will place our affairs under the control of a vast bureaucracy which will include us all.

The naked choice of whether we wish to continue the way of life which has brought more benefits to the common man than any form of society which has ever existed on this earth or join the ranks of those who are conducting their vast experiments in totalitarianism is now coming to a decision.

Major Geoffrey Frampton, Ex-Victorian, Dies in U.K.

Major Geoffrey Frampton, former Victoria resident and member of a well-known family which took an active part in development of this community, died in London, England, Saturday.

He was in his 65th year.

One of the originators of the Scouting movement in this area in 1908, Major Frampton was a leader of the Third Victoria Cathedral Scout Troop.

A native of England, Major Frampton came here in 1907. During the First World War, he rose from private to captain in the field as a member of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, having been one of the first soldiers to leave Victoria after the outbreak of war.

Following the war, he became bursar of Uppingham School in Rutland, England, and during the Second World War, he received the rank of major while in charge of supplies for three hospitals in North Wales.

Survivors include his widow; one son, Peter, in Australia; one daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Govier, London; three sisters, Miss Dorothy Frampton, Victoria; Miss Mary Frampton, Vancouver, and Miss Frances Frampton, RN, England, and two brothers, Cecil of Duncan, and Rev. Keith, in England.

R. J. Dunsmuir Re-elected SPCA Head

R. J. Dunsmuir was returned as president of the SPCA at the annual meeting of the society Thursday night.

W. A. Leach was named vice-president, P. L. Green second vice-president, and D. L. Gillespie third vice-president.

Miss H. Whittaker was elected treasurer; G. R. Myers, corresponding secretary; and Miss H. Whittaker, recording secretary.

Committee members are: Canon George Biddle, Miss P. Birley, Wing Commander J. D. D. Campbell, D. B. Carley, Mrs. I. L. Cheetham, Brigadier W. G. Colquhoun, V. L. Eardley-Wilmot, Charles M. Nelles, Mrs. T. R. Myers, Lieut.-Col. Eric Pepler, Capt. D. Prentice, K. W. L. Scase, F. J. Staghall, Brigadier W. C. Thackray, Madame A. B. Vivenot, and Mrs. W. B. Williams.

SPCA membership last year reached an all-time high of 751 and the work of Inspector Edward Hayward more than doubled.

Assistance was given to 2,000 animals and 1,801 animals were taken into the SPCA shelter in the past nine months.

A new constitution was approved at last night's meeting, and on a trial basis annual dues were raised from $1 to $2 in an effort to raise much needed funds.

A drive for funds will be held in April and May.

Board To Stop Use of School

DUNCAN — Action will be taken by the school board of Cowichan District 65 to stop illegal entry into the school in the Old Somenos district.

Ratepayers of the district reportedly have been "making free" with the school, jimmying the door to gain entry to hold meetings and social functions without authority.

A special by-law committee to secure sites for units planned in a new building program was named by the board. Members are G. E. Bonner, chairman. Trustees John Homer, Clarence J. White and Ross Marshall.

Errors Cost Five Lives

Parachute Failure Unknown in Army

OTTAWA (CP)—Five since the Canadian Army started paratroop training in 1947.

Never once, as far as is known, has there been a case of jumpers have been killed the army said Friday. All accidents were caused by bad jumping procedure or through human error.

The army considers its jumping record a fine one, a spokesman said. More than 8,000 army paratroopers have been trained. At a conservative estimate—no accurate figure is available—this comes to 30,000 jumps.

TWO ACCIDENTS

The army's comments were made in the light of two recent jumping accidents. Pte. Donald Mason, 24, of Victoria was killed in a jump Thursday when his chute apparently failed to open. L.-Cpl. Gerard Cagnon, 23, of Chicoutimi, Que., suffered a leg fracture and broken disc in his back when his chute did not open completely during a jump last week near Quebec City.

The army said courts of inquiry into the two cases won't complete their work for at least three weeks.

UNSUNG HEROES

All parachutes used in the army are packed by the ordnance depot at Camp Shilo, Man., one of the army's two jump schools. The other is at Rivers, Man.

"The packers are the unsung heroes of the paratroopers," one veteran jumper here said. "We can't speak for the two recent cases, but otherwise there has never been a jumping accident caused by faulty equipment."

Last month, the army announced it has adopted a new type of nylon parachute which will make hitting the silk more comfortable.

The T-10 chute, which will replace the old T-7, eliminates most of the opening jerk and swing. Rate of descent is slower—16 feet a second instead of 22—and the landing thus more gentle.

The new parachute, not yet in general use, was not used during the mass jumps last week at Quebec or Thursday at Calgary.

Her Baby Tried To Follow

CHICAGO (UP)—Police tried today to piece together the tragic double life of a beautiful model who posed by day and was a heroin addict by night. Thursday she plunged to her death from a hotel window.

The model's infant son, one year old today, tried to follow his mother out the window. A police detective snatched the baby away from death at the last minute.

The model, Mrs. Joyce Goode Taylor, 33, had a note pinned to her crumpled body: "Please take care of my baby in Room 708." Scrawled beneath were the words, "I am too sick to feed him."

When Detective Al Kustra read the note he rushed to the seventh-floor room of the Gladstone Hotel and found Stephen Taylor lying across the window sill, looking down on his mother's body and trying to follow her.

Police said Mrs. Taylor, a striking brunette, came to Chicago from Mobile, Ala., in 1951.

But somewhere along the way she started taking heroin.

Close Higher After Heavy Selling Wave

NEW YORK (AP)—A major selling wave hit the market, but [illegible] from the effects of the hard blow and closed higher.

The advance actually was the best of the week and put the market up again to peak levels.

Near the start of the final hour reports were circulated in Wall Street of a heavy market fall in the London stock market. They were gloomy there about the possibility of higher interest rates, weakness in the pound sterling, and other localized conditions.

Down from Highs

TORONTO (CP) — Selected issues let the market well ahead but a final-hour wave of selling brought prices down from their highs.

Golds led the advance from the opening and the index climbed 1¼ points to 84.11 after hitting a high since 1953 of 84.60 during the day. Industrials and golds ended strong but base metals eased on the day after the late selling.

Higher at Close

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices were higher at the close of active trading.

Canadian Westinghouse climbed 7½ points to 68 and Aluminium rose 2½. Gypsum was up 2½, General Dynamics 2. Canadian Iron 1½ and Industrial Acceptance 1¼. Point gains were scored by Canadian Vickers, Canada Cement, Great Lakes and Walkers.

ANCIENT TREES

Oak trees will live for 1,000 years and perhaps longer.

Museum Head Gives Talk On Insects

"Meet the Insect" was the subject of a talk by Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, to the Vancouver Island section of the Canadian Institute of Forestry last night.

Dr. Carl said insects are man's chief enemy, and that there are more than 660,000 known species.

Insects cause millions of dollars worth of damage in Canadian forests each year, he added.

Around the Island

Plans Laid For Drama Festival

PORT ALBERNI—Plans for the annual Vancouver Island Drama Festival, to be held in this district from May 18 to 21, were discussed this week at a joint meeting of the Masque Dramatic Society and members of the Vancouver Island Drama Association.

The event will be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Tom Kerr will direct both Port Alberni entries in the Errington zone festival March 29 to April 2. One of the plays was written by Mr. Kerr.

★ ★ ★

COURTENAY — Body of Tom Carlyle, 53-year-old city auctioneer, has been found at Millard's Beach, near Royston. Mr. Carlyle was reported missing January 22. An inquiry will be held into the cause of death.

★ ★ ★

LADYSMITH — Some 70 volunteer mothers will canvass the entire residential district in the "mothers' march" from 6.30 to 7.30 p.m. today in aid of the Kinsmen drive for the B.C. Polio Fund. Mrs. Gunnar Johnson is in charge of the march.

★ ★ ★

KYUQUOT — All Kyuquot children over the age of three were entertained at the school this week at a Valentine party conducted by Mrs. D. Moore and her 18 pupils.

★ ★ ★

QUALICUM BEACH—Herbert E. Wilson, former "King of the Safecrackers," now living at Courtenay, was guest speaker at a recent Rotary Club meeting. After a detailed account of daring robberies which he masterminded, and which relieved the American public of $15,000,000, Mr. Wilson said the incidence of major crime must be lowered by teaching that crime does not pay.

Beach Cleanup Urged

PARKSVILLE—Parksville and district Chamber of Commerce will ask council to arrange a beach-cleaning project to clear away logs and debris washed up by winter storms.

Chamber members will be asked to volunteer their labor for the cleanup.

The chamber has decided against giving financial support to the Nanaimo tourist bureau this year. The chamber will again publish its own folders and advertise in other folders.

★ ★ ★

QUALICUM BEACH—The new high school auditorium-gymnasium will be officially opened on Friday, March 4, by Education Minister Ray Williston.

★ ★ ★

PARKSVILLE—The touring Orthodox Doukhobor Choir will present a concert in Parksville community hall at 8 p.m. Thursday. Appearance of the choir is sponsored by Nanoose Recreation Commission, assisted by Parksville organizations.

★ ★ ★

KYUQUOT—Victor Olesen, Kyuquot fisherman, suffered a severe hand cut this week while using a hand saw. He was flown by Queen Charlotte Airlines to Nootka Mission Hospital at Esperanza for treatment.

★ ★ ★

CHEMAINUS—A. E. Beasley and George Hemmingsen were installed this week by G. C. Saunders as president and vice-president respectively of the Chemainus Chamber of Commerce.

Other 1955 officers are F. Dyer, secretary; B. Shaw, treasurer; executive: Mrs. D. McBride, Miss E. Work, J. Jameson, J. McNulty, C. Sherwood, C. Ford and R. Rennie.

The chamber endorsed the stand of municipal authorities against further reduction of the $50 trade license fee for soft-drink distributors. Four distributors have canceled deliveries protesting "excessive license fees." The fee was reduced from $60 in 1953 following an earlier appeal.

Fishermen Turn Loggers

KYUQUOT—A party of eight local fishermen spent Tuesday cutting timber in the inlets near here for construction of a playshed at the one-room Kyuquot school.

The timber was towed in by Copp Winpenney's trollet, Defiance II, to be sawn at the local sawmill.

A grant of $500 for the job will not cover all costs, but much of the work will be done by volunteer labor at no cost.

★ ★ ★

PARKSVILLE — Two real pioneers of this district, both octogenarians, celebrated birthdays Valentine's Day.

Mrs. Robert Craig, who observed her 83rd birthday, has lived in this area for 81 years. Rev. G. Arthur Bagshaw, who marked his 88th birthday, has been a Parksville resident for 62 years.

★ ★ ★

KYUQUOT—Funds collected by the PTA at a Valentine dance this week will be used for purchase of a slide projector for the school.

New Officers Selected

DUNCAN—Fred Sampson of Youbou will succeed A. Atkinson of Duncan as president of the Cowichan Fish and Game Association. Vernon Norris, also of Youbou, has been named secretary for 1955.

Directors are G. Evans, vice-president, Bruce Peterson, Lewis Langlois, Murvyn Carmichael, Len Fletcher and E. Evans.

Guests at the recent annual meeting were J. Stevenson, fish and game inspector, Don Robinson, game biologist, W. Webb, game warden, and Frank Weir, retired game warden.

★ ★ ★

PORT ALBERNI—Members of the International Typographical Union are continuing to picket the West Coast Advocate, weekly newspaper which published this week for the first time since a strike was called January 13.

★ ★ ★

KYUQUOT — Ray Salo and J. S. T. Gibson, local fishermen, will attend a two-week University of British Columbia extension course next month covering latest developments in fishing operations and navigation. The course is available to all fishermen with expenses paid by the government.

Six-Year-Old Badly Burned

Two Campbell River Boys Injured in Separate Blasts

CAMPBELL RIVER — Two Campbell River boys were injured in separate explosions here Thursday and Friday.

Jackie Thomson, 14, youngest son of John Thomson, suffered arm, leg and hip burns when a home-made bomb exploded in his pocket while he was eating supper Thursday.

Brian Robinson, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Robinson, received chest and arm burns in a blast in the wood shed of his home. Investigating RCMP officers believe the blast was caused by gasoline and matches.

Lourdes Hospital officials say young Thomson is making good progress toward recovery. The Robinson boy is reported in fair condition.

Thomson reportedly had been experimenting with chemicals for some time. He is believed to have mixed some chemicals together and put the mixture in a glass bottle in the pocket of his jacket.

While the boy ate supper Thursday night, the heat of the room apparently caused the chemicals to explode, injuring him and upsetting the table. The blast blew the clothes off the boy and drove pieces of broken glass from the bottle into his flesh.

No one else in the room was hurt.

The Robinson boy was taken to hospital shortly after 2.30 p.m. Friday, when his mother heard the explosion in the woodshed.

She rushed out of her home and, according to reports, found the child enveloped in flames. She pushed the boy on to the floor and rolled him over and over until the flames were extinguished, then picked him up and rushed him to hospital.

Ferry Plea Backed

CAMPBELL RIVER—Campbell River and District Ratepayers' Association meeting Wednesday decided to support Quadra Island ratepayers in their recent appeal to Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi for a car and larger passenger ferry between the island and Campbell River.

The association will write to RCMP headquarters in Victoria asking for a review of the 30 mile-an-hour speed limit at Oyster Bay.

A letter will be sent Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black questioning the desirability of extending village boundaries south, while so much of the area within the village is still unoccupied.

The lands and forests department will be asked to repair the road to Elk Falls, replace steps to the lookout area at the falls, provide more restrooms and picnic tables and clear away brush.

STORE HOURS

Ratepayers, who believe the latet opening of stores on Saturdays is unnecessary since the five-day week prevails, will ask the Retail Merchants' Association to review shop hours.

Improvement of conditions at the hazardous intersection of Richmond Court and Island Highway, where car accidents are frequent, will be sought.

At the request of the newly-formed Welfare Association, ratepayers agreed to underwrite the cost of sending one underprivileged child to summer camp sponsored by Campbell River Recreation Association.

Great Development Ahead

Last Half of Century 'Is Ours'—Gunderson

LADYSMITH — Tremendous development is ahead for British Columbia within the next 10 to 15 years, Einar Gunderson, former provincial finance minister, told a Cowichan-Newcastle Social Credit Association meeting here Thursday.

The first half of this century belonged to Eastern Canada, he said. "The last half is ours."

Mr. Gunderson referred also to his recent trip as special B.C. trade representative to Great Britain and countries of Western Europe. He said he had interviewed investors, industrialists, bankers, firms and individuals, stressing B.C.'s potential.

Mr. Gunderson was impressed by the way children of Western Europe are taught to assist travelers. He said they learn English at school and are able to interpret conversations, which many of their elders cannot do.

School hours are very different in Scandinavian countries, he said. In Sweden, for instance, pupils attend classes from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., with no recess and no lunch break, six days a week.

Referring briefly to the provincial government's plans to export water to the United States through its Kaiser dam proposal, Mr. Gunderson pointed out that the same water has been flowing down into the U.S. for centuries.

But the people who criticize the export of water don't criticize the export of gas, oil and minerals, he said.

Mr. Gunderson showed color slides of his European journey.

W. Mossman of Cedar, association president, told the meeting that he and Walter House of Nanaimo, Social Credit organizer for the Island, would carry out an organization program in Ladysmith during the coming weeks.

Teachers Awarded Raise

DUNCAN — Salary increases totaling $5,400 or 1.02 per cent on their 1954 scale, have been awarded teachers of Cowichan district by an arbitration board. The teachers had asked for increases totaling $20,000 or 5 per cent.

Allowances for principals were increased from $50 per teacher supervised — up to a maximum of 10 teachers—to $75 per teacher supervised, up to eight teachers. Vice-principals received one-half the increase for principals.

Allowance for head teacher was boosted from $75 to $100.

Increments, formerly set at $160 throughout the schedule, now vary from $160 to $190.

Clauses involving conditional increments were eliminated.

The school board had agreed to abide by findings of the arbitration board.

RECLUE for STOMACH SUFFERERS

In Nanaimo Police Court

Impairment Costs $150

NANAIMO—Arthur Berlinquette, a logger, pleaded guilty in police court Friday to a charge of impaired driving, and was fined $150 and costs or 60 days.

"If you are going to drive, don't drink," declared Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts. "A second offense means jail. There is no fine."

S. G. Stupich, also charged with impaired driving, was remanded on $250 bail without plea.

Martin John Aebig, Wellington painter, was fined $50 and costs and his license suspended for three months when he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. The suspension was reduced to one month when Aebig told the magistrate he needed his car for his work and had never been involved in a traffic offense before.

Charged with driving a truck without a muffler, Lloyd Ballance was fined $10 and costs and ordered to fix the vehicle.

Friends Aid Fire Victims

NANAIMO — Warm-hearted neighbors in the Wellington and Pleasant Valley districts moved quickly yesterday to aid Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Dunbar and family, Pleasant Valley, who lost their home in a fire Thursday afternoon.

Beds, bedding, clothing and cooking essentials have already been gathered for the couple and their four children, who range in age from two to 13.

Heading the drive in aid of the burned-out family are Mrs. James Gilmour and Mrs. George Zboyvsky.

The family is being sheltered by relatives and friends.

Body of Woman Found

NANAIMO — Body of Mrs. Sarah Cullen, 73, missing from her home at 210 St. George Street for 48 hours, was found Friday morning on the beach close to the Standard Oil wharf, not far from where she lived.

An inquest will be held Monday at D. J. Jenkins Funeral Home.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, Mrs. Cullen was a Duncan resident for 45 years.

Surviving are her husband, Thomas; one son, Thomas; two daughters, Mrs. James Houston and Mrs. Herbert Torkko; a brother in Florida, another brother and a sister in Scotland.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon from Jenkins Funeral Home, with Rev. George McMichen officiating. Interment will follow at Cedar Valley Memorial Gardens.

Funds Provided For Underpass, Carey Bridge

A new bridge and a new underpass in the Greater Victoria area are provided for in the 1955-56 program of the B.C. department of public works.

A second total of $44,000,000 will be spent on public works in the province.

The new bridge will be on Douglas Street at Carey Road, near the Saanich fire hall. It will replace the existing narrow construction leading into the Patricia Bay Highway.

Work will be completed on the Theis Lake underpass, said Public Works Minister P. A. Gagiardi.

ISLAND PLANS

He also announced the following appropriations for roads in other Vancouver Island ridings:

Alberni, $96,500; Comox, $220,000; Cowichan-Newcastle, $126,500; Esquimalt, $132,000; Nanaimo-The Islands, $121,000, and Saanich, $78,500.

A ferry landing will be built at Gabriola Island, a bridge on Little Qualicum River and a bridge at Comox.

Another bridge will be completed on the Island Highway at Nanaimo River.

Federal Unit To Succeed B.C. Group

A branch of the new federal Progressive Conservative association in B.C. will probably be formed as a result of the disbanding of the south rural branch of the Esquimalt district provincial association.

A majority of members at a meeting in the Colwood Hall approved disbanding as a result of the vote of non-confidence in national leader George Drew passed by the provincial executive.

The action followed by one week disbanding of a similar group at Cobble Hill as a result of the intra-party dispute.

At the Colwood meeting, members stood in silent tribute to the memory of two late members, J. C. Gray of Langford and R. V. Bing of Glen Lake.

Progress Seen In Pay Dispute

Some progress in negotiations is indicated in the 1955 contract dispute between the Victoria Police Federal Union (TLC) and the city police commission.

Announcement of a membership meeting February 21 states reports will be given on negotiations, now in the hands of conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin, and that the negotiating committee will meet again with the commission.

Officials have not stated what progress has been made.

The commission has been unanimously against the requested 10 per cent pay boost but has indicated a compromise is possible on MSA. Other changes also had been rejected.

ALBERNI—Charge of reckless driving was dismissed by Judge L. A. Hanna in County Court Thursday as John Miletich, Alberni, successfully appealed an earlier conviction in Qualicum police court. The charge followed an accident at Qualicum some two months ago.

Labor Veteran To Be Buried Here Today

Funeral services for John L. Martin, labor movement veteran who died Wednesday night in the nursing home where he had been a resident for four months, will be held today at 1 p.m. from McCall's Funeral Home.

A former shipyard worker, Mr. Martin was a member of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Local 191, for many years and was one of the local's delegates to the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council for some 40 years.

He was an aldermanic candidate in Victoria in 1913.

Mr. Martin was born 70 years ago this month on the Isle of Man, where a sister still survives. His father died just two months ago, a short time before his 100th birthday.

Mr. Martin lived in one of the cabins at 742 Johnson until they were removed last year. He was a militant trade unionist of the old school and was once a "Wobbly," or member of the Industrial Workers of the World, for which he wrote a marching song.

Burial will be at Royal Oak.

Motorist Fined $35 For Causing Collision

Edward F. Gardner, 2211 Ida, was fined $35 and his license was suspended when he pleaded guilty yesterday to a careless driving charge.

Police said Gardner cut in from of [illegible] and Harrison, February 9, causing a collision.

* * *

Jack C. Enston, 805 Heywood, was fined $75 on two charges. He pleaded guilty to not having B.C. license plates and to careless driving. Police said his car struck a pedestrian at View and Blanshard, February 9.

* * *

Wesley G. Oke, 4826 West Saanich Road, pleaded guilty in city court to leaving his car without the hand brake set.

Magistrate H. C. Hall fined him $10 after hearing that Oke double-parked opposite the police station and that his car moved ahead, bumping into a police vehicle and causing slight damage.

* * *

William E. Schultz, 22, no fixed address, was sentenced to 10 days in jail in city police court yesterday on a charge of "secreting" himself aboard the Princess Elizabeth at Vancouver, February 15, on a trip to Victoria.

The stowaway charge, rarely heard here, was laid under the Canada Shipping Act. Schultz pleaded guilty.

* * *

* * *

William H. Robinson, who earlier had pleaded guilty to theft of clothes from a club in Victoria, was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Chute Fails, Pilot Killed

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP)—Air Force Capt. David E. Baker, 33, was killed Thursday when his parachute failed to open after he jumped from his disabled Sabre jet 60 miles north of Rapid City. Baker radioed that engine trouble was forcing him to quit the plane before he ejected himself from the jet. His body, bearing the unopened chute, was found three miles from the wreckage.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Willie Mays. Willie Mays. Willie Mays. Willie Mays. That's almost all one reads about in baseball. The greatest player in the game today. I'd take him over Musial, DiMaggio or Williams. The greatest of all time. Stupendous, magnificent, colossal, terrific, spectacular, sensational, out of this world. It [illegible] Durocher most enthusiastic of all about the colored outfielder of the New York Giants.

And it's all so silly. Mays has played but one full season in the big leagues. He played well, often outstandingly well, defensively and led the National League with a .345 average. He also led in slugging percentage and hit 41 home runs. A fine season but why all the fuss over a fellow who has played only about 400 major league games?

Stan Musial has averaged .345 for 13 major league seasons. Is a six-time batting champion and a 10-time all-star selection. Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio both lost some of their peak years while in the services but the former has a .348 lifetime average and DiMaggio averaged .325 for 11 seasons. Williams has played nine times in the all-star game and DiMaggio was named to the major all-star team eight times.

To mention Mays at this stage of his career with the above trio is bad enough but to class him as the all-time best is downright ridiculous. Take a look at these records:

Cobb—lifetime average of .367 for 3,033 games over 24 seasons, scored 2,224 runs, batted in 1,901, made 4,191 hits, league batting champion 12 times in 13-year span, nine times in a row;

Hornsby—hit .358 for 2,259 games in 23 seasons, averaged .402 for five-season span with successive averages of .397, .401, .384, .424 and .403, seven times league batting champion;

Ruth—averaged .342 for 2,503 games over 22 seasons, scored 2,174 runs, batted in 2,209, made 2,873 hits, 714 of them home runs;

Speaker—made 3,515 hits in 2,789 games in 22 seasons for lifetime average of .344;

Gehrig—averaged .340 for 2,164 games—2,130 played consecutively—in 17 seasons, drove in 1,991 runs, scored 1,888, hit 493 home runs;

Heilman—averaged .342 for 2,146 games over 18 seasons.

Baseball records show more than 100 players have made 2,000 or more hits and that 130 have averaged .300 or better for a career of 10 seasons or more. Willie Mays may eventually be as good as the best but it won't be time to present his evidence until 1965 at the earliest. In baseball, the test of greatness is the test of time.

Random Harvest

Someone with common sense and some authority has undoubtedly spoken to Clem Bird and the manager of the Penticton Vs has taken refuge with the age-old excuse of being misunderstood when he made his remarks about the conditions in Germany. One can hope now that there will be no more unhappy utterances from this source . . . In answer to a query, this writer has certainly got nothing against the Vs and believes they fill win the world hockey tournament with reasonable ease but I do feel that Canada could have sent a younger, less professional team. If we are to be represented by outright professionals, why not the best or closer to the best than the Vs? . . . In any event, let's by-pass this so-called world championship tournament after this year . . . the best hockey pictures I have seen are in the next issue of Look, which will be out Tuesday . . . B.C. Lions seem certain of another financially-successful season this year with more than 5,500 season's tickets already sold. And don't be too surprised if the Lions come up with a contending football team. They have signed some good players and with Vic Lindskog and Clem Crowe, both top-notchers, added to the coaching staff, they should get the best out of improved material . . . Vancouver hockey writers gave Edmonton defenseman Larry Zeidel a good going-over for his attack on Vancouver centre Phil Maloney. Problems All Solved, Vs' Manager Claims

(From CP and UP Reports)

Manager Clem Bird of the Penticton Vs, who complained bitterly Thursday that conditions in Germany were not to the liking of the Canadian entry in the world hockey championships, said yesterday it was just "one of those unfortunate misunderstandings."

He said that he wanted to assure "the people of Canada" that his players have no complaints whatsoever about German hospitality or food. (A Berlin newspaper, Der Tagesspiegel, carried a report published in Canada that the players were unhappy with conditions in Germany, including the food.)

"That just wasn't true," Bird said. "We told some German reporters today (Friday) that were wern't complaining about food but about hockey conditions."

By hockey conditions, Bird meant that Wednesday's game in Berlin, a 11-4, win for the Vs over a pick-up team—was not a true test of the European calibre of play.

"We were a bit disappointed because we didn't bring 18 players 9,000 miles for that kind of a contest," Bird said.

"Also, when we left London on Monday we thought we were going to stay in Duesseldorf and we made all our plans on that basis. But when we got there we were told to go to Berlin, and that's where the fun started. In Berlin, nobody knew about us and there we were without a clue. It was very difficult at first but now we have our problems all straightened out and things should be okay."

TOUGHER SUNDAY

As far as the calibre of opposition is concerned, the Vs will have to wait until Sunday to get a test. They played another pick-up team in Berlin last night and breezed to a 16-1 verdict. The Penticton club leaves today by air for Prague, where it will meet the highly-rated Czechs in games tomorrow and Monday.

Most of the play in a somewhat rough game yesterday was around the Berlin goal with the Vs having little more than shooting practice against a good German goalkeeper, who managed to keep the score from getting worse with a good job in the nets.

Meanwhile, it was reported that Russia will invite the 1955 Canadian Allan Cup winners to play in Russia. The proposal was made by Colonel Pavel Kozotkov, president of the Soviet Ice Hockey Federation, in a meeting with Bird. No decision or further announcement was made yesterday.

Navy Goalie Busy as Island League Playoff Opens

Navy netminder Fred Currah had a hectic time of it during the second period of last night's opening game of the Island Amateur Hockey League semi-final playoff between the Sailors and C & C Taxi. Trailing 5-4 midway through the period, the Taximen rapped in four goals in less than 10 minutes and went on to post an 11-5 triumph. Here Currah turns to retrieve the puck from his net after former Victoria Cougar Joe Evans, at right, fired the goal that gave C & C 6-5 lead, while Del Brown, centre, turns to congratulate teammate Evans. Navy defender behind Evans arrived too late to break up play.

C&C Leads Mercantile Playoff; Get Range Late To Sink Sailors

C & C Taxi took a one-game lead in their semi-final Commercial Hockey League series with Navy by scoring a 11-5 victory at Memorial Arena last night in a wide-open game played before about 750 fans.

GAMES HERE MONDAY

Nanaimo Clippers, who finished on top in league play, and the last-place Drake Hotel meet at Nanaimo tonight in the first game of the other semi-final. Second games in both series will be played here Monday night.

Trailing, 5-4, midway through the second period, the Taximen suddenly broke loose for four goals in the last nine minutes of the period and then added three more in the final 20 minutes for a rousing win.

The teams fought it out on fairly even terms until the veteran C & C team broke out. The sailors trailed by 1-0 and 3-1 in the first period, started the second all square at 3-3 and twice took over the lead before falling apart under the C & C attack.

VETS SHOW WAY

Don Ashbee, Bernie Strongman, Toby Brown, Ron Bremner and Joe Evans, veterans all, sparked the winners. Ashbee set up the goal which started his club's scoring spree, then added a goal and assist in the third period. Bremner, after passing for a goal in the first period, tied the score at 5-5 and got a second goal in the third period. Strongman had a goal and two assists, Toby Brown had a goal and three assists and Evans chipped in with two goals.

Bob Jones also scored twice for the winners with the other goals going to Del Brown and Arnold Elliott.

HALL RETURNS

George Hall was back in goal for the Taximen, having been reinstated just before the game after being indefinitely suspended for bad conduct in previous games. League president Doug Fletcher announced that Hall's reinstatement was on a game-to-game basis and his future availability depended on his conduct in each game played.

Hall helped his club with some good saves while the result was still in doubt but didn't have much to do after Evans and Toby Brown broke Navy's resistance with goals 26 seconds apart after Bremner had tied the score at 5-5.

First period—1, C & C, Strongman (T. Brown) 3.01; 2, Navy, Derry (Haugh, Merrifield) 8.40; 3, C & C, D. Brown (Bremner) 8.50; 4, C & C, Evans (T. Brown) 9.15; 5, Navy, Larter (Kelly, McCarthy) 11.10; 6, Navy, Cook (Bond) 13.24.

Second period—7, Navy, Derry (Coulter, Bird) 3.28; 8, C & C, Elliot (Cooper, Kirby) 4.37; 9, Navy, Bond (Bird) 10.08; 10, C & C, Bremner (Ashbee, Strongman) 11.00; 11, C & C, Evans (T. Brown) 14.29; 12, C & C, T. Brown (unassisted) 14.55; 13, C & C, Jones (Cooper, Arnold) 19.44. Penalties, Kirby, C & C 10.41, Kirby, C & C 13.47.

Third period—14, C & C, Bremner (Ashbee, D. Brown) 51; 15, C & C, Jones (McColl) 2.00; 16, C & C, Ashbee (Strongman) 7.01. Penalties, Elliot, C & C, 4.31, Bird, Navy, 4.31, Currah, Navy (10-minute misconduct), 4.31.

Alberni Leads Final—Downs Orphans 50-34

ALBERNI (Special)—Alberni Athletics, British Columbia men's senior "A" basketball champions, took the lead in the best-of-five Vancouver Island final here Friday night by outscoring Howie Tooby's Victoria Orphans, 50-34, before a large crowd.

Second game of the series will be played here Saturday night and the third in Victoria next Friday. If a fourth game is needed, it will be played in Victoria next Saturday, and if the series goes the limit the fifth game will also be in Victoria, a week from next Saturday.

CLOSE FOR HALF

Orphans, dressing only eight players, stayed in contention until the latter stages of a close-checking game but couldn't match the depth and experience of the Athletics, who dressed all 13 of their players but used only the 10 permitted.

Orphans took the lead at the start but As finally pulled even at 12-12 when playing-coach Elmer Speidel tossed in two free throws.

It was 16-16 a few minutes from half-time, then the Orphan abandoned their deliberate game and started to run. That was made to order for the Athletics, who boomed in 11 points in a hurry to take a 27-18 lead into the second half. The As steadily built up their final 16-point margin from there.

Johnny Clark, as usual, led the Victoria team by getting 13 points while George Denison racked up 14 as the pair combined to give the Orphans most of their punch.

BRINHAM GOOD

Speidel, Al Brown and Ron Bissett shared scoring honors for the As, each getting 12 points, but it was Doug Brinham who caught the eye most often with a fine performance which netted him 11 points. Harry Kermode, playing his third game this season, was a steadying influence while adding three points for the winners.

Tore Larson of Vancouver and Jim Sawyer of Nanaimo did the refereeing. They called 12 fouls against Victoria and 13 against Alberni with the As making good use of their free throws in the first half by cashing nine to keep close to the pace.

Scores follow:

Alberni—Brown 12, Samarmin, Brinham 11, Speidel 19, Bissett 12, Kermode 3, Kostniskoff, Vaciigh, Khohoski, Buchanan. Total—50.

Victoria—Clark 13, Jones, Denison 11, Parker 4, Hendry, Pedersen 3, Tooby 1, Davies. Total—34.

Nanaimo Hosts City Sunday; Match Today

Victoria City, which opens its second-half Pacific Coast Soccer League schedule March 5, will travel to Nanaimo for an exhibition match Sunday.

City will meet the Nanaimo All-Stars at Nanaimo's Caledonia Park at 2 p.m. with all proceeds from the match going to aid Nanaimo's minor soccer program.

In local senior soccer action, one match is scheduled today, Esquimalt meeting JBAA at Royal Athletic Park in a Jackson Cup semi-final. On Sunday, Canadian Scottish and Heaneys tangle at Heywood Avenue in a Jackson Cup quarter-final. Both games start at 2 p.m.

Vancouver Mayor Seeks To Place Stadium Blame

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mayor Fred Hume says he will definitely try to place the blame for the faulty drainage which led to the poor condition of the Empire Stadium playing field last year.

"We want to find out who is responsible here," he told a special technical committee on the problem, after they recommended a $56,000 rebuilding job on the turf.

Representatives of the British Empire Games, the Pacific National Exhibition, architects and contractors met with Mayor Hume following the recommendation Thursday.

"We paid the price . . . and we want it to work," he said.

Meanwhile, Phil Stroyan, superintendent of the Park Board, said that "with lots of luck and help from the weather," the field can be made usable for the Western Interprovincial Football Union this year.

"But if the weather turns bad," he warned, "we'll be right back where we started."

Last night's score: VICTORIA 3, Edmonton 1

Next games: Edmonton at Calgary, Saskatoon; Edmonton at Calgary, Vancouver at New Westminster.

Victoria's scrappy Cougars bounced back last night after a tough 2-1 defeat at Calgary Thursday to surprise 4,500 Edmonton fans with a well-deserved 3-1 triumph over the Flyers, Western Hockey League leaders.

Victory boosted the Cougars into third place, two points ahead of the slumping New Westminster Royals, one point behind the second-place Calgary Stampeders, and kept them six points ahead of the surging Vancouver Canucks.

END JINX

Last night's was only the second win for the Cougars on Edmonton ice in three seasons, the first this season. In 11 previous games, the Islanders had won one, tied three and lost seven in the Alberta capital. For the season, with one game left to play, the Flyers hold a 5-2 edge over the Cougars.

Only the toughest kind of luck kept Marcel Pelletier from blanking the Flyers for the second time in a row and tying the league record of seven shutouts in a season. He plyaed well throughout, particularly in the second period, as he stopped 29 shots but lost out when reliable Bill Davidson banged the puck into his own net while attempting to clear behind the goal.

That misfortune cost the Cougars the 1-0 lead they had fought for bitterly in the first 38 minutes but it didn't stop them as they came back strong in the final 20 minutes to sew matters up with two goals.

Cougars' "Remnants," the line left over after coach Billy Reay assembled his first two lines, paved the way to the win last night with the first two goals. Defenseman Bill Bucyk, still taking a regular turn on the wing, opened the scoring at 11.14 of the second period with linemates Gene Achtymichuk and Mark Marquess both drawing assists, and Achtymichuk got what proved to be the winner.

Doug Macauley's 21st goal ended the scoring.

Bucyk finally got the puck past Glen Hall, back from a two-game relief appearance for Detroit Red Wings' Terry Sawchuk, when he took a long pass from Achtymichuk and blasted a rising 20-footer into the cords.

Achtymichuk broke the tie midway through the third period when he beat Hall with a 10-footer from a bad angle following a face-off in the Edmonton zone.

Defenseman Walt Clune was credited with an assist on that one and also figured in the play when Macauley potted the clincher while Enio Sclisizzi served a penalty for tripping Bill Bucyk. Macauley was in the right spot to trap a rebound off a shot by Colin Kilburn and moved the puck into the open goal.

QUAKERS TONIGHT

Cougars complete their last Prairie trip at Saskatoon tonight with their fourth game in as many days. They return home for two games with New Westminster next week, playing here Wednesday and in the Royal City on Saturday. The following week Edmonton is here Wednesday and then comes an important home-and-home tussle with the Canucks with a game in Vancouver Friday and here Saturday.

Victoria—Goal, Pelletier; defense, Durham, Keating, Clune, Davidson, W. Bucyk; forwards, Macauley, Hebenton, Kuzma, Kilburn, Achtymichuk, Marquess, Dorohoy, Bradley, Reay.

Referee, Dick Davis; linesman, Hank Wilson.

First period—No scoring. Penalties: Reay 13.06, Davis 14.16, Durham 14.16.

Second period—1, Victoria, W. Bucyk (Achtymichuk, Marquess) 11.14. 2, Edmonton, Polis (Sclisizzi) 17.47. Penalty: J. Bucyk 7.44.

Third period — 3, Victoria, Achtymichuk (Clune) 9.17. 4, Victoria, Macauley (Kilburn, Clune) 19.57. Penalties, Sclisizzi 10.05, Durham 13.37.

Stops: Pelletier, 5—14, 9—28; Hall, 4, 9, 12—25.

Things Get Desperate For Battered Royals

Plight of New Westminster Royals, who led or stayed right close to the leader for the biggest part of the Western Hockey League season, worsened last night as the surging Vancouver Canucks handed them a 6-0 thumping before 4,900 Vancouver Forum fans.

DIFFERENT WAYS

It was the fifth defeat in a row and the ninth in 12 games for the sad-looking Royals. For the Canucks, who have won six and tied one of their last nine games, it was the fourth straight win.

Result moved the Canucks within four points of their cross-town rivals and the Vancouver club has two games in hand. To make things even worse from a New Westminster standpoint, the Canucks have now beaten them three times in a row and seven times in the last eight games the clubs have played. The lone Vancouver loss was by 1-0.

Canucks again opened with a spurt and had the game in the bag early, scoring three goals before the first period was half over. They added one goal to their lead in the second period and wound up with two third-period scores.

Royals were set back by the opening goal, scored by Fred Brown from a wild scramble which featured almost every player on the ice. The Royals claimed that Brown was in the crease when he whacked the puck past Dave Gatherum, substituting for Lucien Dechene, who is suffering from battle fatigue after watching 221 pucks fly by him in 57 games.

TWO FOR HARRY

Harry Dick then followed with the first of two goals and Ray Cyr made it 3-0. Phil Maloney scored in the second period and Dick and Earl Johnson scored in the last 20 minutes. It was Johnny Bower's fourth shutout.

Royals and Canucks tangle in New Westminster tonight and the Royals may have three new players in the line-up in addition to Gatherum. George Agar, former Calgary star and now playing-coach at Vernon, is supposed to join the club for two games, as is rookie Val Fonteyne, who has also been playing in the Okanagan League. The Royals have also announced the acquisition of 23-year-old Bill "Hard Rock" Needham, who can play the wing or defense, from Cleveland of the AHL.

REFUSED RONTY?

Meanwhile, the happy owner of the Canucks, Coley Hall, announced that his club had turned down a chance to get centre Paul Ronty from the New York Rangers. He figures the Canucks have all they need at last, and it looks as if he may be right.

New Westminster—Goal, Gatherum; defense, Lewis, Bergeron, Sinclair, Redaid; forwards, McNab, Dershow, McLean, Adam, Love, Fashoway, Fielder, Matchett.

Referee, Paul Bozak; linesman, Gordon Hamilton.

SUMMARY

First period—1—Vancouver, Brown (Cyr, Reece) 4.48. 2—Vancouver, Dick (Wylie, Ford) 7.46. 3—Vancouver, Cyr (Johnson, Brown) 9.32. Penalties, None.

Second period—4—Vancouver, Maloney (McLeod, Lancien) 2.06. Penalties, Kullman 7.00, 8.49, Hudson 8.49, Sinclair 10.49.

Third period—5—Vancouver, Dick (Kullman, Maloney) 7.06. 6—Vancouver, Johnson (Maloney, McLeod) 17.14. Penalties, Dea 3.46, McLeod 17.07.

Scoring Title Almost Sure For Beliveau

Montreal Canadiens continue to dominate National Hockey League scoring, holding down the first five places in the individual scoring race.

Sophomore sensation Jean Beliveau is well on his way to his first scoring title with 62 points, five more than veteran teammate Maurice Richard. Richard leads in goals scored with 33, Beliveau is next with 32.

Bernie Geoffrion, Bert Olmstead, who leads in assists with 41, and Ken Mosdell follow in order with 35, 49 and 47 points respectively. However, Toronto's Sid Smith, Detroit's Gordie Howe and Chicago's Red Sullivan are all only one point behind Mosdell and threatening to break into the top five.

	G	A	Pts.
Beliveau, Montreal	32	30	62
Richard, Montreal	33	24	57
Geoffrion, Montreal	29	26	55
Olmstead, Montreal	8	41	49

Trophy Shoot Slated Sunday

Members of the Victoria Gun Club will begin their seasonal quests for club trophies Sunday when they compete in the first legs of competitions for Colonist, C & C and Doubles trophies.

Five legs will be fired in the struggle for club awards this season in place of the three-leg competitions held in previous years.

First relays Sunday will get under way at noon. Ammunition and refreshments will be available on the grounds.

Butlers Win Hoop Playoff

Butlers Aces moved in the lower Vancouver Island senior "C" men's basketball final as they downed Sidney, 69-40, at Brentwood Community Hall last night to win the Saanich and Suburban Basketball League two-game final by 35 points.

Will Benn with 14 points and Ron Benn with 12 paced the winners who had gained a six-point lead in the opening game of the series. Sidney's Harold Jacobson topped all scorers with a 19-point performance.

Kamloops Elks Oust Packers

KELOWNA (BUP)—The Kamloops Elks moved into the Okanagan Hockey League finals Friday night as they defeated the Kelowna Packers, 3-0, in the fourth and deciding game of the semi-final playoff series.

Both clubs fought to scoreless tie in the first period, then Johnny Milliard scored for the winners on an assist from Don Slater to give the Elks a 1-0 lead at the end of the second period.

Milliard, who was a big factor in the Elks' win connected again in the final period on an assist from Slater again. Connors scored the Elks' final goal at 11.33 of the third frame.

Junior Playoff

Fletchers will open their bid for the Vancouver Island junior basketball championship at Alberni Athletic Hall tonight when they meet Alberni High School Chieftains in the first game of a two-game, total-point series.

Outsiders Allowed To Sit In

Representatives of neighbor[illegible] municipalities may be invited to sit on committees of the Victoria Library Board but only at the invitation of the chairmen.

Proposal for invitation came from Capt D J Proudfoot who said that was as far as the board could go to give 'outside' municipalities representation.

"I can't see them getting anything representation this year," he added.

He suggested that an outside representative be appointed to committees where there were two members from [illegible] and that two outside representatives be named to a committee where there are three board members.

Reps. "The outside municipalities could not take state that they have to say in the administration of the system," he said "and the committees have to be put back [illegible] for the board decision as a whole."

STILL NO VOTE

Outside municipalities he pointed out, also would not have a vote on the board.

Chairman of the board, Harry Neeley, who was re-appointed for a further term yesterday, commented that it was difficult enough to get the representatives to a board meeting as it was.

"If they don't come, [illegible] another [illegible]," said Ald Frank Mulliner.

Mr Neeley said he thought the board would be well advised to leave that matter until later. He added he was all for municipalities being in here.

UP TO CHAIRMEN

After some discussion the board decided not to appoint outside representatives to the committees but gave the chairmen power to invite them to attend the committee meetings "if they so desire."

Committees appointed were:

Personnel: Prof. R. Wallace (chairman), Miss Jane Hall and Austin Curtis.

Finance: Frank Mulliner, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot and H. G. M. Williams.

Building: Captain Proudfoot (chairman) and Mr. McWilliams.

Films and records: Mr. McWilliams (chairman) and Capt. Proudfoot.

Inter-municipal relations: James Neeley, Prof. Wallace and Alderman Mulliner.

Gourmets' Delight

House Gives Unrepentant MLA Token Penalty for Misconduct

Gordon Gibson, the Liberal MLA who was "named" Wednesday for defying the Speaker of the house, yesterday drew a token punishment when he still refused to withdraw remarks he had made.

Mr Gibson was "sentenced" by a split vote of the legislature to suspension "from the service of the House" for the time he had spent out of the chamber Wednesday when he was dismissed by the Speaker.

The division on the suspension order was 25-17 with the CCF voting with the Liberals against it.

The vote followed a statement by Mr Gibson to a tense House minutes after the sitting opened.

WON'T RETRACT

The Liberal MLA read a statement in which he an[illegible] "I am not prepared to retract any [illegible] I said on the occasion in question" [illegible] and I [illegible] the statement which the House makes its decision."

In the concluding part of the statement Mr Gibson referred to scenes of events Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday which [illegible] the House. He is the first MLA in the history of the B.C. legislature to be "named" for his conduct.

He said to the Speaker he "intended no discourtesy to you or to your office when I refused to obey you."

"I felt that I could neither [illegible] the truth of a newspaper account which was substantially correct, nor retract any statement I had made in this House, and it was for that reason that I declined to obey your instructions," Mr Gibson said.

COMMISSIONER NAMED

Mr Gibson had charged that "money changes hands in the issuance of forest management licenses." His charges resulted in the appointment of Judge Arthur E. Lord as sole member of a royal commission to investigate charges of "impropriety" in such dealings.

When Mr Gibson sat down, Attorney-General Robert Bonner rose and moved that "the member for Lillooet be suspended from the service of the House and that the duration of such suspension be deemed to be the period of time for which the member was withdrawn from the chamber on the 16th of February, 1955, at the direction of Mr. Speaker."

He prefaced the motion thus:

"Mr. Speaker, it is of paramount importance that the privileges and customs of the legislative assembly be preserved and observed by all who sit in this chamber. No man may with impunity flaunt the authority of this house by refusing to abide by a ruling of Mr. Speaker."

But some government members cordoned Mr. Gibson and got off very lightly. They indicated that in the motion as originally tabled by the attorney-general, the House was being asked to give the Speaker the power to suspend a member for the remainder of the session. Mr. Gibson had been absent from the House only for the two days, Wednesday and Thursday.

POLICE "BANDITS"

Earlier, Mr. Gibson had charged that RCMP "a flock of bandits" who had blackjacks and "were ready to strike anyone."

"Some were inebriated and made remarks to show how much they enjoyed that type of work," the mothers added. [illegible] has been offi[illegible] denied.

Nurse Heroine Acclaimed

An air force heroine, Nursing Sister Marion Macdonald, attracted attention of Flt. Lieut Robert Ostler at the Odeon Theatre last night. She is featured in a large poster centring a survival kit display in the theatre foyer in connection with the picture "The Purple Plain," now showing.

NS MacDonald was credited with saving the life of two U.S. airmen who crashed last Saturday in Manitoba. She was member of para-rescue team. Members of 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron, RCAF Auxiliary, were guests at the Odeon Theatre.

Isolation of Sons of Freedom In United Nations Colony Urged

A suggestion has been made that an isolated section of the B.C. coast be given to the United Nations to supervise as a home for Sons of Freedom and any other Doukhobors who refuse to become naturalized citizens.

Joe Podovinikoff, of Hilliers, acting as spokesman for 18 members of the radical Sons of Freedom sect at a meeting here last night said the suggestion was made by a member of the CCF party.

"It is theoretically possible," he said, "that it will not be [illegible] because of police [illegible] 18 years as these women [illegible] out Adams Lake, near Kamloops, as a new home for the sect."

Q. I have been chosen by our local women's club to be a delegate to a national convention. But I don't have enough money for all the sessions and entertainment. What shall I do?

A. Don't let this worry you. The same day clothes can be worn to every session and the same semi-evening dress every evening. All that is necessary is to be well groomed, have your hair and face and your clothes well maintained, and your dresses pressed and neat looking.

Q. Should a stranger knock on the closed talk door of a business office before entering?

A. This is not done. Business offices are public. One does not, however, enter an office door marked "private" without a day, unless [illegible] an invitation.

Q. When a man has just given his fiancee an engagement ring and they decide to have it insured, who pays for this?

A. The man should take care of this.

University Women's Music Group Presents Entertaining Program

"The Making of Music" was the theme set for an amusing [illegible] presented by University Women's Club Wednesday evening by members of the [illegible] music study group. Miss Catherine Youdale, narrator, introduced the topic by explaining that there are three basic ways to produce musical effects. The first, a taut string, vibration [illegible]

A fork whose properties included a wash tub and short pole to which were attached a string that could be twanged quite tunefully, Mrs. M. F. Smith showed how the second effect, a sound object vibration, could be produced by banging a spoon against a metal [illegible]. Together, Mrs. Falk and Mrs. Smith exhausted the third method, that of introducing a column of air into a tube by blowing into a number of pop bottles. This last effect, which is the principle of the brass and woodwind instruments, was coupled with a theme of the comedy, with particular emphasis on the wood winds.

A symphony orchestra section whose members were suitably attired in black was arranged on the stage and each member in turn introduced her instrument. Mrs. Falk with whistle and Miss Mildred Mahoney clar. met, each played a solo while other members of the orchestra [illegible] on recordings to demonstrate their woodwind instruments. The flautist was Mrs. W. B. Gordon, leader of the music study group. Mrs. L. P. Morris presented the oboe. Miss Margaret Cromwy [illegible] Mrs. C. C. Savage the bassoon. A saxophone was introduced by Mrs. J. L. Andrews. In finale, Madame Ruba Kuska, played by Mrs. Albert Bradfield, conducted the symphony in a recording of Menotti. Mrs. William Stewart moved a vote of thanks to the music group.

A business meeting at which Mrs. A. J. Butterfield presided preceded the musical skit. Mrs. M. F. Smith introduced Mrs. J. F. Kenderdine, a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan as a new member. A nominating committee announced by Mrs. Butterfield is composed of Mrs. H. S. Twining, Miss Margaret Cromwy, Mrs. C. D. Stockdale, J. M. Thomas and Mrs. A. J. Mrs. A. C. C. FOR WOMEN

By Dorothy Wrotnowski

My memories of the Empress Hotel dining rooms—and I use the plural on purpose—go back longer than I care to admit here. But these memories have one thing in common, dining at the Empress has been rather a solemn affair. Always that feeling one must be just a little on one's dignity as befitting the ceremonious service.

During the summer it is slightly different when our friends from across the border almost take over the city and fill the Sunday's heavy-carpeted beamed-ceiling dining room. The solemnity is somewhat dispelled by all the chatter although the dignity remains and the visitors go away impressed and invariably come back for more.

I wouldn't go into what happens during Christmas week when the same people from the U.S. practically take over the hotel. It just proves that the Empress has something different they won't get in this part of the world.

* * *

And now something completely different is happening at the dining room. A new manager, Mr. Cyril Chapman, has arrived at the Empress and even though one would expect a few changes with a new manager, the dining room was the last place to expect change. But it has happened. I know because I was there at night. And it is going to be the same every Friday night from now on.

Around the centre fountain which last night was banked with flowers and daffodils were a square of counters laden with the most tempting food . . . a buffet supper. There were the hors d'oeuvres to start. The main course was the last word and the sweets and salads went all out in their unsurpassed art of food decoration.

* * *

A large B.C. salmon, encased in jellied aspic and decorated with delicate cucumber, looking as nearly lookalike as . . . and the prince of hams among sides of cold lamb, beef, roast chicken, turkey, duck, tongue, chipped pickled walnuts and enough sauces and mustards to suit the most jaded palate. If that were not enough there were delicacies, not at all like chicken a la king, but tried, plump and crab meat . . . and that's all I can remember.

Dessert was yet graceful swans of solid ice held interesting looking mousse or cake and were surrounded with glace fruit, pie, three cakes, bowls of fruit and platters of cheese. Hungry? You would be if you took one look.

So, Friday evening now if I want something different I know where I go. And I'll serve myself and take as long or as short a time as I like. And all the ancestral portraits in their gilt frames can smile as much as they like.

Fanciful Epitaphs Continue To Baffle Church Authorities

LONDON (Reuters) — Leaders of the Anglican Church are no nearer a decision on what to do about fanciful tombstone inscriptions, but many of them at least have a clearer idea of the problem.

and lay officials heard of a [illegible] man who had had a [illegible] on his wife's tombstone and a woman who wanted to use a light verse she had heard in a movie as her father's epitaph.

No formal action was taken on tombstone censorship, an issue that rouses Britain periodically despite a vigorous plea for the barring of "absurd, ridiculous and sometimes irreverent" epitaphs from the graveyards. A plea was made by a Yorkshire vicar, Rev. A. C. Moloney, that inscriptions be limited to the name of the dead person with perhaps a date.

J. A. Garton, a lay member, came back with the reply that epitaphs in some cases are the only things which get some people near a church." He proclaimed it would be a sad day if we cleansed them and remarked that "they are of very great interest."

At least once a year some Britons [illegible] church business involved in a heated [illegible] ship issue. Last spring a court ruled against a woman seeking libel damages on the grounds that a tombstone description of her husband as "degenerate" was not libellous.

About the same time a proposal [illegible] that the epitaph would be judged to be libellous if it had had [illegible] to be said and became [illegible] of Richdale, reported the most unusual one he had seen:

"He fought the good fight and lost."

Projects Planned For Year

Construction of three new church buildings and appointment of [illegible] part-time pastors are included in the promised gains for this year, it was reported at the annual meeting of Sidney Pastoral Charge of the United Church.

Two new buildings will be a church at Deep Cove and extensions to Sidney and Brentwood United Church.

Encouraging reports were received from the pastors of Sidney, Deep Cove, Deep Cove and Brentwood, as well as from the women's auxiliary, the men's club, and the recently formed Explorers' Group.

SERVICES STARTED

[illegible] were Mrs. R. M. Macdonald, Mrs. W. G. Parker, L. R. Vorss, Chas. Hall and Mrs. Davidson.

Service [illegible] were elected: Messrs. M. R. Peers, Mrs. H. J. Walter, F. Beisiegel, L. C. Forbes, R. G. Haley, D. G. Hughes and C. S. Wright.

Rotarians To Mark Anniversary

Service commemorating the 50th anniversary of the founding of the worldwide Rotary organization will be conducted by Dean P. R. Beattie at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday evening.

Victoria Rotarians and their families will attend the service.

The local club, which has a membership of 120, obtained its charter in 1913 and was the 50th club to be formed. There are now some 8,000 clubs in operation with a membership of 400,000.

DEAN P. R. BEATTIE

Guest speakers at Glad Tidings Tabernacle this week end will be Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Kasborg, of Oslo, Norway.

They will conduct a Scandinavian service this evening and [illegible]

World Christians Set Day of Prayer

NEW YORK (UP) — Millions of Christians in 140 countries around the world will join Friday in a World Day of Prayer organized by seven Protestant women in Brooklyn, N.Y.

In the United States services sponsored by United Church Women, a department of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America are scheduled for churches, schools, hospitals and business establishments in some 2,000 communities. Offerings at the services will be divided between the council's home and foreign missions divisions for use in education and welfare programs throughout the world.

Since 1927 the day has been observed annually on the first Friday of Lent.

An international group of Protestant women, including two New Yorkers, an Indian and a Filipino, in a four-day world topic conferences will [illegible] other church women, will join in one of the day's earliest prayer services at Suva in the Fiji Islands.

Just east of that sunrise Queen Salote of the Tonga Islands is scheduled to lead her people in the opening prayer service. Twenty-four hours later, after prayers in thousands of languages the day will be closed with observations on St. Lawrence Island, Alaska.

SALESPEOPLE ARE PAID TO SELL!

Salespeople are not paid to sit around forty hours a week. They're supposedly paid to sell. They can't sell if customers are not at hand.

The merchant who makes the most of the selling time of his salespeople — AND MAKES THE MOST SALES — is the one who does something to bring customers into his store. Newspaper advertising is the only proven way to bring your store to the people, and people to your store. TRY IT!

A complete advertising service is available to you in our newspaper offices, planning your advertising budget, types of proposed advertising series and campaigns, copy and layout and services . . . advertising which is planned and prepared by experienced personnel with strong advertising backgrounds. This service is always at your disposal and costs you nothing extra.

A representative will call at your request to discuss newspaper advertising for your business. Call 3-4111, ask for Display Advertising.

Winning Contract

By Howard Schenken and Richard L. Frey

BRIDGE QUIZ

Our busy teammate, John R. Crawford, has just produced a fine new book on the latest fad game, Calypso. ("Calypso! How to Play and Win," Doubleday, $1.50.) A previous Crawford opus with the monumental title, "How to be a Consistent Winner in the Most Popular Card Games," omitted Calypso for the good reason that as little as two years ago—when his book came out—no one off the island of Trinidad had ever heard of the new game.

Today's quiz is based on Crawford's advice on part-score situations in contract bridge. When your side has a part score, it affects your choice of response to partner's opening bid because a lower contract is needed in order to reach game.

With North-South 60 on score, North opens the bidding with one spade. East passes. What should South bid with each of the following hands?

♠ 2
♡ K J 10 9 4
◇ 7 6 5
♣ K 7 4 2

(b)
♠ 2
♡ 7 5 4
◇ K 9 7 6 5 3
♣ K J 4

(c)
♠ Q 4 3
♡ A J 8 6
◇ 5 2
♣ K 6 2

♠ Q 2
♡ A 4 3
◇ Q 7 2
♣ K 10 7 4 2

(e)
♠ 7 5 3
♡ 6 2
◇ J 6 4
♣ A K 10 7 4

♠ 7
♡ 8 2
◇ K Q J 8 7 5
♣ A Q 4 3

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(a) Two hearts. Ordinarily, your hand is not strong enough to bid at the two-level in response to partner's opening. But since two hearts gives you game, this is not a forcing response; indeed, partner should let you play that contract unless he has an extremely powerful hand.

(b) Two diamonds. The reasoning previously cited applies also to this hand—and with even greater force. You can afford to bid two diamonds only if partner is pretty sure to let you alone there.

(c) Two spades. It is most important that you do not bid two hearts on this kind of hand. You don't want partner to let you alone at that contract; you should be well off at spades and will not do well at hearts unless partner happens to have good support.

(d) One no-trump. Not two clubs—for the reasons that are self-evident from previous comments.

(e) Two clubs. Ordinarily, you would bid one no-trump on this hand, but with the part score you can afford to mention your real strength.

(f) Two diamonds. Although this is a far stronger hand than such examples as (b) and (e), you cannot make a stronger bid. Skip bids may be only slightly shaded in part score situations, but you should always have at least two first-round controls.

Daily Astrology

BY RITA DEL MAR

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 19

Today's quotation: "Shallow brooks murmur most, deep silent slide away."
—Sir Philip Sidney.

Saturday for everyone: Unexpected things may crop up today. Adjust yourself to whatever transpires by utilizing your ingenuity, willingness to co-operate and arbitrate. Avoid inharmony, complications, haste, upsets.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below.

March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Dispatch chores, office matters despite any ups-and-downs. Maintain the approval of superiors.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus)—Defer making arrangements of any importance. Use care en route, tact in dealings with in-laws.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Have no quarrels, unpleasantness. Protect your interests in mutual money matters and belongings.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer)—Allow others to take the lead in activities; don't stick your neck out. Be diplomatic with folks who share your interests.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo)—Give work, physical well-being priority. Maintain harmony with those who serve you or whom you serve.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—If obstacles are met, try to surmount them calmly. Avoid risks or chance-taking of any kind.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra)—The domestic and office scene and folks therein are most important and demand consideration.

October 23 to November 21 (Scorpio)—Don't expect decisions to be binding; accept necessary revisions. Don't initiate any.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Keep emotions out of financial transactions. Protect your interests in funds, reserves.

December 22 to January 19 (Capricorn)—Adapt to circumstances. Exert personality. Be sure your perspective is clear before proceeding.

January 20 to February 18 (Aquarius)—Neither feel sorry for yourself nor have arguments. Keep clear of difficulties.

February 19 to March 20 (Pisces)—Those in the domestic or friendship scene can upset the applecart for you unless you are careful.

Justice Code Strengthened

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom's government disclosed plans Thursday for revamping South Africa's code of justice. It will make prosecutions easier and defense of individuals harder.

The measures in effect will give the government, now pursuing a stern program of racial segregation, a vise-like grip on activities of people and groups considered politically dangerous.

Leader Sets Tenure Record

LONDON (Reuters) — Sir Godfrey Huggins, prime minister of Southern Rhodesia since 1933, was created a viscount Thursday, on the eve of his breaking the record for length of service as a prime minister in the British Commonwealth.

Queen Elizabeth conferred the title on the 71-year-old statesman a few hours before his plane left London Airport for Salisbury.

By tonight he will have completed 7,829 days as Southern Rhodesia's prime minister, passing the present record of 7,828 days set by the late W. L. Mackenzie King, who headed the Canadian government over three separate periods.

Bonner To Give More Direction To Commission

Judge Lord, Counsel Waiting for Orders

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday he will confer with Alfred Bull, QC, early next week on the terms of reference for the royal commission which will investigate charges of impropriety in forest management license dealings.

Judge Arthur E. Lord, named sole commissioner in the inquiry, said Friday in Vancouver he needs further instructions from the government. Mr. Bull is commission counsel.

Judge Lord was appointed after repeated charges by Gordon Gibson (Lib., Lillooet) that money had changed hands in the issuance of forest licenses.

FIRST "NAMED"

Mr Gibson's refusal to withdraw the remarks Wednesday resulted in his being the first MLA in B.C. history to be "named" by the Speaker and banished from the legislature.

But Judge Lord said he can't start the inquiry until "the government tells us how deep it wants to go." He said announcements that the inquiry would start immediately were "a little premature."

"Whether or not the government wants us to ferret around, seek out evidence and witnesses, and procure specific charges against government officials and ministers of the Crown, we haven't heard," Judge Lord said.

ONLY CHARGE

He added that Mr. Gibson's charge Wednesday was "the only charge we have to go on—we must have more specific evidence than this." Mr. Bull said that he was "ready to go" but had no idea of the "scope of the inquiry."

An order passed the cabinet Thursday directed the commission to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the issuance of forest management license since the enactment of section 32A by chapter 38 of the Statutes of 1947 for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not there is any truth in such allegations and whether or not there was impropriety on the part of any person in connection with the issuance of any forest management license."

The commission can therefore inquire in to the matter right back to the issuing of the first licenses in 1948 under the former Liberal government.

Mr. Bonner said yesterday the terms of reference of the inquiry were stated in the order-in-council but he will discuss it further with Mr. Bull when he is in Victoria next week.

BULLETINS

TOKYO (UP) — Communist China charged today that a Nationalist China shock platoon, personally directed by a "U.S. spy agency," raided Pingyang in Chekiang province last October. Radio Peiping broadcast the charge, allegedly based on the confession of Hsiao Hsi Chen, a captured Nationalist soldier of the raiding platoon.

They were en route from Port Hardy, B.C., to St. John, Que., where they are stationed.

Vincent Murder Case Goes to Jury Today

VANCOUVER (BUP) — The fate of Lawrence Vincent, carnival worker charged with the shoelace strangling of schoolgirl Donna Lee Corbett, will be in the hands of an all-male jury here today.

Counsel for the crown, Douglas F. McNeill and defense counsel Raymond Hughes, gave their final addresses Friday and the jury will retire today following the summation of Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris.

Assize Court was jam-packed, with police witnesses even overflowing into press seats, as McNeill called a new witness to rebut defense evidence Friday.

Frank Hickling, grandfather of the crown's key witness Sharon Bournes, told of Sharon and defense witness Donna Eccles, meeting at his house, discussing the case in his house at Quesnel prior to Vincent's second trial at New Westminster.

He stated that the Eccles girl admitted being confused as to which day she last saw Donna Corbett alive, the day of the murder or the day before.

Hickling quoted her as saying "I don't know whether I'm coming or going."

Many Lives Lost

Nationalists Blast Red Sub, 21 Ships

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists today claimed their biggest victory since being forced off the mainland—a submarine and 21 ships of a Chinese Red troop-carrying convoy sunk Friday by warships and planes.

Possible loss of more than 1,600 Red soldiers was implied in the claim that eight Communist landing ships went down 15 miles off Chekiang province during nearly 12 hours of steady attack 120 miles northwest of Formosa.

The Red convoy was believed to have been bent on reinforcing a garrison recently slipped into Taishan island some 40 miles south of Nanchishan, the Nationalists' northernmost outpost since evacuation of the Tachens.

Nationalist warships opened the blistering action Friday morning. Nationalist planes joined in and kept at it at least until nightfall.

LONDON (UP)—Communist China admitted Friday the Formosa crisis had reached the "dangerous" state and called for a ten-nation conference as proposed by Russia to ease the tense international situation.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Red China was said Friday night to be building a new network of mainland jet air bases and rushing reinforcements to the Tachen islands in preparation for its next move against the Chinese Nationalists.

Mothers March On Polio Tonight

More than 3,000 mothers will knock at every door where a porch light is burning tonight to ask the people of Greater Victoria to help fight polio.

The second annual Mothers' March on Polio will take place between 6.30 and 7.30 p.m.

Phenomenal success of the drive last year saw donations of $69,000, more than double the quota. While do district goal has been set this year, $300,000 is sought throughout the province.

NEEDED FOR VACCINE

That figure is $75,000 more than in 1954, as a result of the request of the provincial government to the B.C. Polio Fund for assistance in purchasing Salk vaccine.

Of the amount contributed last year, $55,000 was spent in this area. Other funds helped finance the Western Rehabilitation Centre in Vancouver, where six Victoria polio patients are receiving rehabilitation training ranging from household duties to driving a car.

Canvassers tonight will include many members of the Solarium Junior League, which is currently conducting the Shower of Dimes for $30,000 and has raised $9,784 so far.

Pineau Effort Fails

PARIS (UP)—Christian Pineau was defeated in the National Assembly early today in his bid to become France's first Socialist premier in eight years.

The assembly refused to invest Pineau as premier by an unofficial vote of 312 to 268.

The 50-year-old Socialist economist, who writes fairy tales in his spare time, was plowed under by powerful right-wing opposition.

His defeat sent the deepening French cabinet crisis into its third week. It began February 5 when Pierre Mendes-France fell. Three candidates of three different parties have tried and failed to give France a new government since.

Pineau was the only one of the three to go as far as an assembly vote.

In appealing for assembly support, Pineau had promised to push quick ratification of the German rearmament treaties and to seek talks with the Communists on East-West tension.

Cold Wave Hits

CHICAGO (CP)—A roaring blizzard and cold wave slammed into the Rockies and Great Plains Friday, blocking roads and halting air travel.

Another storm left parts of northeast United States buried under a paralyzing two-foot blanket of wet snow, while the coldest weather of the year stung the far northwest.

Riding in on icy winds with gusts reaching up to 60 miles an hour, the blizzard and cold wave rolled over Wyoming, Colorado, Nebraska and the Dakotas and pressed on toward Kansas, Minnesota, Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Towering snow drifts blocked some main roads in the Rockies. Bus line offices in Cheyenne, Wyo., reported all vehicles from the west were held up until highways could be cleared.

MARITIMES HIT

Sections of New Brunswick reported between eight and 16 inches of snow.

Charlottetown reported a light blowing snow that continued most of the day.

Two of the hardest-hit areas were Sweden, which had its worst blizzard in 30 years, and northern Scotland, which had its second straight day of blizzards.

The snow blocked roads and cut communications in Scotland. Urgent appeals from isolated villages went out for medical aid.

Royal Navy helicopters were flying in food and supplies.

'Give Up Fear Now'

Throw Away Atom Bombs Indian Urges

Blast in Desert Starts New Tests

(From CP, AP and UP Reports)

LONDON—The suggestion of an Indian elder statesman yesterday that the West junk all its atomic and hydrogen weapons and leave the next move up to Russia, came in the midst of a chain of events that showed the world was little inclined to listen.

Russia was demanding anew that all nuclear weapons be banned. U.S. authorities were saying again that the Soviet plan offered no safeguards. And in the Nevada desert a fireball blossomed as the first of a new series of atom bomb tests was touched off.

India's Governor-General Chakravarty Rajagopalachari, a confidant of Prime Minister Nehru, said unilateral abandoning of atomic weapons might make the worries of the atomic age seem, in retrospect, "an ugly dream that dissolved when it reached its climax in terror."

"To get rid of fear is different from trying to get rid of a danger," he wrote in a letter to The New Statesman and Nation. "To seek to remove the danger . . . is really to continue in fear. To expect your enemy to agree to give up what has definitely added to his power of generating terror is a vain thought.

"You should give up your fear without waiting for the other man to give up his power.

"The only way to get control over the hellish power of nuclear weapons is not the retaining of the power for purposes of retaliation but by unilaterally giving it up . . ."

Rajagopalachari said it might be better to let the world be destroyed altogether than live in this "hell of continuous fear."

In Moscow, the Soviet Union late last night issued a demand for unconditional prohibition of atomic and hydrogen bombs. This is the same position the Russians have taken since the first postwar arms control efforts in 1946.

The declaration was issued in connection with the meeting of a United Nations sub-committee on disarmament to be held in London later this month.

They said it would give Russia a vast military superiority over the West, and would rule out rearmament of Germany and Japan and any Southeast Asia buildup.

The United States has consistently maintained that no plan for atomic arms control would work unless combined with an airtight inspection plan to prevent violations.

One of the smallet A-bombs in the American arsenal exploded over Yucca Flat near Las Vegas, Nevada, yesterday opening the 1955 test series.

The 32nd shot to be set off at the Atomic Energy Commission's test site was an air drop at noon after bad weather had caused a 4½-hour delay.

It was an impressive piece of precision bombing as a B-36 bomber dropped the weapon through the only visible patch of blue sky.

The shot itself, however, was not an impressive sight. Only a brief flash was visible to observers 30 miles away.

Chamber Considers Plan For Massive Credit Union

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce is investigating the value of the formation of a credit union with services available to personnel of all member firms.

There are 540 member firms in the chamber and about 700 individual members.

If the chamber decides to form a credit union it is possible it would become British Columbia's largest.

Largest in British Columbia now are the Vancouver Federal Employees' Credit Union with about 3,800 members, and the Powell River Credit Union, which was the first organized in B.C.

NOT COMPULSORY

Not all employees of member firms would be required to become members of the credit union. It is considered a good average if 40 per cent join.

A sub-committee of the chamber's membership committee, under chairanship of Reginald Wilde, is investigating the credit union project and is expected to make a full report shortly.

Organization would probably be similar to the chamber's group health plan, which offers medical, life, accident and unemployment benefits, and MSA coverage to 350 employees of chamber member firms.

BEST AVAILABLE

The health plan is considered the best group plan offered anywhere in Canada and the Victoria chamber was the first to offer such full coverage.

It was started in July, 1954, with 52 members, and is steadily increasing. A drive for new member firms is planned next June when those wishing to get into the plan will be able to do so without undergoing medical examination.

Canadian Chamber of Commerce President G. S. Thorvaldson told The Daily Colonist this week that in his opinion credit unions have no place in chambers of commerce.

Chartered banks are doing the job quite ably, he said.

Margaret Relaxes On Yacht

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) —Princess Margaret sunbathed on the Royal yacht Britannia as she sailed toward Jamaica to continue her Caribbean tour, said a raido-telephone report from the vessel Friday.

The Britannia will sail into Port Royal, across the harbor from Kingston, today and the princess will step ashore at 11 a.m. She will spend five days in Jamaica before sailing to the Bahamas for the last stop on her month-long tour.

Dog Bites Small Boy

A three-year-ld boy, Michael Murphy, 1863 Oak Bay Avenue, was badly bitten on the face by a dog near his home about 6 p.m. last night.

He required three stitches to close a lip injury. The boy was also bitten on the right cheek near his eye.

Twice Escapes Police Ambushes

Slippery Gunman Evades Harlem Blockade

NEW YORK (UP) — A pint-sized fugitive believed to be a hired killer broke out of police traps twice Friday and slipped wraithlike through a blockade of 100 policemen armed witn machine guns and tear gas.

In one of his escapes, the little man held three husky detectives at gunpoint and stripped them of their weapons. Less than an hour later, he shot it out with four other police marksmen before disappearing in a maze of apartment buildings.

The suspect, identified as Augusto Robles, 41, was believed to be the killer who, with a macabre touch, shot to death an underworld associate earlier this week and left the body in front of a Brooklyn coffin factory.

Police Friday traced Robles to the Harlem apartment of Carmen Gusman, his girl friend. The time was 4 a.m. Detectives hoped to surprise Robles.

As Miss Guzman cautiously opened the door and peeped out, the officers kicked it in and rushed into the room.

Their plan apparently had succeeded. Robles was captured and searched for weapons. As the detectives escorted him to the door, Miss Guzman handed him his hat.

Suddenly Robles produced a gun—police believe it was in the hat—and slipped behind one of the detectives. "Make a move and I'll kill you," he said. The other detectives threw down their guns and Robles fled.

The second chance to capture Robles came minutes later. Detectives found their slippery target in the apartment of his niece, less than a mile away.

This time they were more cautious. Two detectives were guarded from a nearby stairway exit by two other officers.

Suddenly the stair door opened.

There was Robles with a revolver.

The detectives fell to the floor and opened fire. Robles fired two shots and fled. Nobody was hit.

In response to the detectives' call for aid, more than 100 officers roared to the scene and in minutes the huge housing project in the centre of Harlem was ringed. Searchlights played on the red brick buildings in the early light of dawn.

But the elusive Robles apparently had fled safely for the third time.

A milkman later told police he saw the suspect and another man fleeing along a pathway leading to a maze of tenements that ring the housing project.

The man Robles was believed to have killed Joseph Aronowitz, who died only a day before he was scheduled to go into a Baltimore courtroom and "tell all" about a bungled stick-up involving a former magistrate.

Dollar Sale Proves Flop

He had offered the coins at a "rock bottom" price—75 cents each—as an advertising gimmick.

Not more than a dozen customers took advantage of the bargain, Joiner explained. He said they told him they "just didn't have the money to buy them."

Nationalists Blast Red Sub, 21 Ships

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists today claimed their biggest victory since being forced off the mainland—a submarine and 21 ships of a Chinese Red troop-carrying convoy sunk Friday by warships and planes.

Possible loss of more than 1,600 Red soldiers was implied in the claim that eight Communist landing ships went down 15 miles off Chekiang province during nearly 12 hours of steady attack 120 miles northwest of Formosa.

The Red convoy was believed to have been bent on reinforcing a garrison recently slipped into Taishan island some 40 miles south of Nanchishan, the Nationalists' northernmost outpost since evacuation of the Tachens.

Nationalist warships opened the blistering action Friday morning. Nationalist planes joined in and kept at it at least until nightfall.

LONDON (UP)—Communist China admitted Friday the Formosa crisis had reached the "dangerous" state and called for a ten-nation conference as proposed by Russia to ease the tense international situation.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Red China was said Friday night to be building a new network of mainland jet air bases and rushing reinforcements to the Tachen islands in preparation for its next move against the Chinese Nationalists.

Pineau Effort Fails

PARIS (UP)—Christian Pineau was defeated in the National Assembly early today in his bid to become France's first Socialist premier in eight years.

The assembly refused to invest Pineau as premier by an unofficial vote of 312 to 268.

CHRISTIAN PINEAU

His defeat sent the deepening French cabinet crisis into its third week. It began February 5 when Pierre Mendes-France fell. Three candidates of three different parties have tried and failed to give France a new government since.

Pineau was the only one of the three to go as far as an assembly vote.

In appealing for assembly support, Pineau had promised to push quick ratification of the German rearmament treaties and to seek talks with the Communists on East-West tension.

Vincent Murder Case Goes to Jury Today

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The fate of Lawrence Vincent, carnival worker charged with the shoelace strangling of school-girl Donna Lee Corbett, will be in the hands of an all-male jury here today.

Counsel for the crown, Douglas F. McNeill and defense counsel Raymond Hughes, gave their final addresses Friday and the jury will retire today following the summation of Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris.

Assize Court was jam-packed, with police witnesses even overflowing into press seats, as McNeill called a new witness to rebut defense evidence Friday.

Frank Hickling, grandfather of the crown's key witness Sharon Bournes, told of Sharon and defense witness Donna Eccles, meeting at his house, discussing the case in his house at Quesnel prior to Vincent's second trial at New Westminster.

He stated that the Eccles girl admitted being confused as to which day she last saw Donna Corbett alive, the day of the murder or the day before.

Hickling quoted her as saying "I don't know whether I'm coming or going."

Chamber Considers Plan For Massive Credit Union

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce is investigating the value of the formation of a credit union with services available to personnel of all member firms.

There are 540 member firms in the chamber and about 700 individual members.

If the chamber decides to form a credit union it is possible it would become British Columbia's largest.

Largest in British Columbia now are the Vancouver Federal Employees' Credit Union with about 3,800 members, and the Powell River Credit Union, which was the first organized in B.C.

Not all employees of member firms would be required to become members of the credit union. It is considered a good average if 40 per cent join.

A sub-committee of the chamber's membership committee, under chairanship of Reginald Wilde, is investigating the credit union project and is expected to make a full report shortly.

Organization would probably be similar to the chamber's group health plan, which offers medical, life, accident and unemployment benefits, and MSA coverage to 350 employees of chamber member firms.

The health plan is considered the best group plan offered anywhere in Canada and the Victoria chamber was the first to offer such full coverage.

It was started in July, 1954, with 52 members, and is steadily increasing. A drive for new member firms is planned next June when those wishing to get into the plan will be able to do so without undergoing medical examination.

Twice Escapes Police Ambushes

Slippery Gunman Evades Harlem Blockade

NEW YORK (UP)—A pint-sized fugitive believed to be a hired killer broke out of police traps twice Friday and slipped wraithlike through a blockade of 100 policemen armed with machine guns and tear gas.

In one of his escapes, the little man held three husky detectives at gunpoint and stripped them of their weapons. Less than an hour later, he shot it out with four other police marksmen before disappearing in a maze of apartment buildings.

The suspect, identified as Augusto Robles, 41, was believed to be the killer who, with a macabre touch, shot to death an underworld associate earlier this week and left the body in front of a Brooklyn coffin factory.

Police Friday traced Robles to the Harlem apartment of Carmen Gusman, his girl friend. The time was 4 a.m. Detectives hoped to surprise Robles.

As Miss Guzman cautiously opened the door and peeped out, the officers kicked it in and rushed into the room.

Their plan apparently had succeeded. Robles was captured and searched for weapons. As the detectives escorted him to the door, Miss Guzman handed him his hat.

Suddenly Robles produced a gun—police believe it was in the hat—and slipped behind one of the detectives. "Make a move and I'll kill you," he said. The other detectives threw down their guns and Robles fled.

This time they were more cautious. Two detectives were guarded from a nearby stairway exit by two other officers.

Suddenly the stair door opened.

There was Robles with a revolver.

The detectives fell to the floor and opened fire. Robles fired two shots and fled. Nobody was hit.

In response to the detectives' call for aid, more than 100 officers roared to the scene and in minutes the huge housing project in the centre of Harlem was ringed. Searchlights played on the red brick buildings in the early light of dawn.

But the elusive Robles apparently had fled safely for the third time.

A milkman later told police he saw the suspect and another man fleeing along a pathway leading to a maze of tenements that ring the housing project.

The man Robles was believed to have killed Joseph Aronowitz, who died only a day before he was scheduled to go into a Baltimore courtroom and "tell all" about a bungled stick-up involving a former magistrate.
